BIBLIOGRAPHICAL ACCOUNT OF WORKS

RELATING TO THE

ISLE OF MAN

NEW EDITION

REVISED, CORRECTED, AND ENLARGED

BY WILLIAM HARRISON

DOUGLAS, ISLE OF MAN

PRINTED FOR THE MANX SOCIETY

MDCCCLXXVI

Printed by R. & R. CLARK, Edinburgh.

PREFACE.

THE first edition of this work was issued in 1861, at which time the Compiler had not the opportunity of consulting sufficient authorities which a work of this nature required, but had mainly to rely upon such as he possessed in his own library. Since that time he has been enabled to add considerably to the information contained therein by the addition of numerous particulars to the works there enumerated, and has also recorded some 300 more works connected with the Isle of Man or that particularly allude to it.

The Council of the Manx Society, considering the great importance that a work of this nature is to the student of Manx history as a guide to the sources from whence information is to be derived, have decided that this enlarged edition shall form one of their series.

The study of Bibliography, or a knowledge of particular books, was, until of late years, singularly neglected; however, there has now sprung up a desire to become acquainted with whatever has been published that will in any way elucidate the history of a country or a place. It was with this view the Compiller was induced to continue his labours, in the hope that the result might be useful not only to the Manx student, but to others as well. Those only who have been engaged in similar pursuits can have an adequate idea of the vast amount of labour required in wading through a multiplicity of books in order to find out a single fact that may be of use; this requiring no great amount of literary knowledge, but assuredly a vast amount of patience, and as such the Editor trusts it has not been spent in vain. The list has not been extended beyond the year 1870, and such works as have escaped research (for the list does not profess to be exhaustive) will only be an amusement to the reader to fill up.

From John Frissel Crellin, Esq., of Orrysdale, I have received constant contributions for this list of works; and have to express my thanks for his kindness in affording me access to his valuable collection of books and coins relating to the Isle of Man.

An extensive Index has been added for the more easy mode of reference.

WILLIAM HARRISON.

ROCK MOUNT, May 1876.

INTRODUCTION TO THE FIRST EDITION, 1861.

FOR many years previous to the establishment of the Manx Society, the Editor had been collecting from time to time such Works as related in any way to the Isle of Man, and making a list of the same. On the formation of the Society it was suggested that it would be very desirable if such could be brought before the members at some future day. The impression that such a work might be useful to those engaged in similar pursuits has led to the compilation of the present volume. An obscure tract or scarce work no doubt may have here and there escaped the notice of the Editor, or not have been sufficiently described for want of the work to refer to, but it is presumed none of any great importance; and such omission will be the sooner pardoned when it is considered by those who can form an estimate of the labour and research required in the compilation of works of this description, and that the more readily when it is known there is no Public Library in the Island containing stores of this kind to which he could resort for reference, but had mainly to rely on the collections contained in his own library.

Some of the articles may appear too trivial to have been noticed, but everything to the Historian is of value, and everything requires his perusal; a date may be fixed or a fact established from a sermon, a report, or a lampoon. It is to be hoped that the new materials which the Manx Society has been the means of bringing before the public will make the task of the future Historian of the Island less difficult by the very valuable documents which have for the first time been brought to light in their volumes.

The full title is described in most instances, thereby enabling the reader to learn what subjects are treated upon by the writer, with the date and place of publication. A few remarks and biographical notices are added where any peculiarity or important information was thought requisite to be noticed. To have extended these would only have retarded the publication of the volume, and might not have increased its usefulness.

Some few notices of works in MS. are appended, but no doubt this might be considerably extended, as also notices of works where incidental remarks are made relative to the history, government, or customs of the Island; but these having been so fully given in Dr. Oliver's Monumenta, where he reprints the most important passages, it was considered only necessary to enumerate them. In the various pages of the Gentleman's and other Magazines may be found occasional remarks relative to the Island, some of which are noticed, also the publications of the Chetham Society, as well as other sources, all which may be added by any one wishful to extend the present list.

An Alphabetical Index is annexed, which it is hoped will be found sufficiently copious to answer all the purposes of reference, the value of which will be acknowledged by all who have experienced the want of one.

I have to express my thanks to Robt. J. Moore, Esq., High-Bailiff of Peel, for his readiness in answering inquiries, and constant access to the valuable and extensive collection of documents relating to the Island in his possession.

A BIBLIOGRAPHICAL ACCOUNT OF WORKS

RELATING TO

THE ISLE OF MAN.

RANULPH HIGDEN.—1482.

THE Polycronycon, conteynyng the Berynges and Dedes of many Tymes, in eyght Books, etc. Imprinted by William Caxton. Folio. 1482.

This very curious historical miscellany was written in Latin, circa 1350, by Ranulph Higden, a Benedictine monk of the Order of St. Werburg, Chester, who died about the year 1360. It was translated into English by John de Trevisa in 1357, at the request of Thomas, Lord Berkeley, from which Caxton made this version, and added an eighth book, being a continuation from 1357 to 1460.

Polycronycon. West-mestre by Wynkyn de Worde. Folio. 1495.

Polycronycon. Imprinted in Southwerke by my Peter Treveris, at ye expences of John Reynes, Bookseller, at the sygne of Saynt George in Poule's Churchyarde, the Yeare of our Lorde God 1527, the xvi. daye of Maye. Folio.

A paginary reprint of Wynkyn de Worde's edition, with the introduction of a few woodcuts.

Isle of Man. Lib. 1, cap. xv. An early mention of the Island.

This very rare work is fully described by Mr. Haslewood in the "British Bibliographer," vol. iii. p. 348-54. London. 1812.

WM. CAMDEN.—1586.

Britannia, sive florentissimorum regnorum Angliæ, Scotiæ, Hiberniæ, et insularum adjacentium, ex intima antiquitate chorographica descriptio. Londini: 1586. Octavo.

This is the first edition, dedicated to Sir W. Cecil, Lord Burghley. This work passed through eight editions between 1586 and 1590. The editions of 1587 and 1590 are in octavo; 1594 and 1600 in quarto; that of 1607 in folio, the last edition corrected by the author. The monks of Rushen Abbey wrote the three first sheets of the account of the Chronicle of Man and the Isles up to the year 1270, the time of the Scottish conquest; the latter portion continues the history down to 1316, in another hand, probably by the monks of Furness Abbey. Bishop Merrick is said to have drawn up the account of the sketch of the Isle of Man. He was bishop from 1577 to 1599.

William Camden was born in the Old Bailey, London, May 2, 1551. His father, Sampson, was a painter, and his mother was one of the ancient family of Curwens of Cumberland. His great work has been said to be "the common sun, whereat our modern writers have all lighted their little torches."

RALPH HOLINSHED.—1586-7.

Chronicles of England, Scotland, and Ireland. London. 2 vols. Folio. 1586-7.

The first edition appeared in 1577. It was first collected and published by Ralph Holinshed, William Harrison, and others.

The Isle of Man. Vol. i. p. 37, and book ii. chap. ii. p. 146.

An edition was published in quarto, 6 vols. London. 1807-8.

THOMAS DURHAM.—1595.

The Isle of Man exactly described and into several Parishes divided, with every Towne, Village, Baye, Creke, and River therein conteyned. The bordringe Coasts where-with it is circulated in their situations sett and by the Compasse accordingly shewed, with their true distance from every place unto this Island, by a severall scale observed. Described by Tho. Durham. Ano. 1595. Large Folio.

The oldest map of the Island. Shows the existence of lakes in the northern district. Mirescogh was the most important; and Thomas, Earl of Derby, in 1505, made a grant of one-half of the fishery in it to Huan Hesketh, Bishop of Man. On an island in this lake was a state prison.

—— HOOPER.—1608.

Survey of the Revenue, Farm Rents, etc., of the Isle of Man. By Mr. Hooper, commissioner appointed by the Lords Salisbury and Northampton in 1608. Rents were first established here in 1505.

A MS. copy is in possession of M. H. Quayle, Esq., Clerk of the Rolls.

JOHN MONIPENNIE.—1612.

The Abridgement or Summarie of the Scots Chronicles, etc. etc. With a true Description of the whole realme of Scotland and of the Isles in general, etc. By John Monipennie. Printed at Brittaines Bursse. By John Budge. 1612.

A short description of the Isle of Man, in which he states "there was a towne in it named Sodora, the Bishop of the Isles seat."

This work is reprinted in "Miscellanea Scotica," vol. i. Glasgow. John Wylie and Co. 1818.

JOHN SELDEN.—1614.

Titles of Honor, by John Selden. Lucilius, Persium, non curo legere; Lelium decimum volo. London: By William Stansby for John Helme, and are to be sold at his Shop in St. Dunstan's Churchyard. 1614. Quarto, pp. 391.

"Of the Title of Kings, as it is subordinate in subject Princes, with some particulars of the kingdom of the Isle of Man."

A second edition, with additions, in folio, was published in 1631, and a third in 1672. The latter is considered the best edition.

That portion relating to the Isle of Man is printed in Oliver's "Monumenta," vol. i. pp. 107-110, Manx Society, vol. iv. 1860. Also in Gell's "Abstract of the Laws of the Isle of Man," vol. i. pp. 156-8, Manx Society, vol. xii. 1867.

JOHN SPEED.—1627.

The Theatre of the Empire of Great Britaine. As also A Prospect of the most Famous Parts of the World. By John Speed. A briefe description of the Ciuill Warres, etc. The Invasions of England and Ireland, etc. The Theatre of Great Britain, etc. Are to be sold in Pops-head Alley by G. Humble. London. Royal Folio. 1627.

This appears to be the third edition, the first in 1611, and the second edition in 1614.

This work contains numerous engraved plates of various dates. Man Island is in book i. chap. xlv. pp. 91-92, giving a description of it. "A table of the Townes, Villages, Castles, Rivers, and Hauens." Also "A Chronicle of the Kings of Man." On the back of pages 91 and 92 is a map, "Described by Tho. Durham. Ano. 1595. Performed by John Speed. Anno 1610."

This map was copied from Durham's map of 1595, and recopied by Daniel King, 1656, on a reduced scale, for "Chaloner's Short Treatise," with the omission of the ships and the figures of marine animals bearing the standards of the British Isles, with the addition on the margin of eight small views in the Isle of Man, the arms of the Island, and the arms of Lord Fairfax. The map accompanying the Manx Society's edition of "Chaloner's Treatise," vol. x. 1863, is on a still further reduced scale.

The portion relating to the Isle of Man is reprinted in the Manx Society's series, vol. xviii. 1871, "Old Historians," pp. 36-44, with Durham's map, reduced.

Mercator's Atlas. Printed in London. Small Folio. 1635.

At p. 96 is a description of the Isle of Man, taken from Camden, with a map.

PETER HEYLIN, D.D.—1636.

Microcosmus, or a little Description of the great World.
London. 1636. Quarto.

The Isle of Man, pp. 512-513.

Editions of this work have appeared in 1622, small quarto ; 1624-1627, Oxford ; and London, 1652-1664 ; and enlarged in 1674, 1677, 1682, folio. Also in 1703, folio.

PETER HEYLYN, D.D.—1641.

A Help to English History, containing a succession of all the Kings of England, the English, Saxons, and the Britains ; the Kings and Princes of Wales, the Kings and Lords of Man and the Isle of Wight ; as also of all the Dukes, Marquesses, Earls, and Bishops thereof ; with the descriptions of the places from whence they had their Titles ; together with the Names and Ranks of the Viscounts, Barons, and Baronets of England. By Robert Hall, Gent. Printed at London. Quarto, pp. 379. 1641.

This was compiled by Dr. Heylyn, under the assumed name of Robert Hall. The second edition was published in 1652. Other editions appeared after Dr. Heylyn's death, continued by various hands, in 1671, 1680, 1709, and 1773. The latter contains many additions, and is the best edition of this useful work.

EARL OF DERBY.—1649.

A Message sent from the Earl of Derby, Governor of the Isle of Man, to his dread Sovereign Charles II., King of Scotland, etc. And his Lordship's Declaration to his Majesty concerning the Treaty, and Major-General Ireton, etc. Printed at York, and reprinted for W. R. Quarto.

Concerning the Parliament's attempted treaty with the Earl, respecting a surrender of the Island to them, in consideration of taking off the sequestration of his estates, and his celebrated indignant reply to Commissary-General Ireton, dated July 12, which has been often printed.

EARL OF DERBY.—1649.

A Declaration of the Right Honourable James, Earl of Derby, Lord Stanley, Strange of Knockin and of the Isle of Man, concerning his resolution to keep the Isle of Man, for his Majesties Service, against all force whatsoever. Together with his Lordship's letter in answer to Commissary-General Ireton. London. Quarto, pp. 8. 1649.

This Declaration bears date July 18th as the composition of Lord Derby. Sir Marmaduke Langdale and Sir Lewis Dives were commissioned by King Charles II. (June 5th) to repair to the Isle of Man and assist the Earl in keeping the same, both "by counsell and personal service." They arrived two days after the letter had been written to Ireton, and advised the Earl to publish his declaration of July 18, and which was considered by them to be a "meer fiction," and "no whit the sence of Derby." On this account they published their declaration, highly complimentary to the Earl.

LANGDALE AND DIVES.—1649.

A Declaration of the Noble Knights Sir Marmaduke Langdale and Sir Lewis Dives, in vindication of the Right Honourable James, Earl of Derby, and remonstrating their resolutions to keep the Isle of Man against all opposition in his Majesty's service, August the 5th, 1649. London. Quarto. Printed in the year 1649.

For a notice of these three scarce tracts, see "The Civil War Tracts," edited by George Ormerod, Esq., in the 2d volume of the Chetham Society's publications, 1844, pp. 280-285.

1649.

Mercurius Pragmaticus. In this newspaper, published for Charles II., are articles relating to the surrender of the Isle of Man by the Earl of Derby, and other matters.

Small Quarto.

Mercurius Politicus. In this newspaper is "An exact relation of the manner of our enterprise upon the Isle of Man, with the successe it pleased God to give there unto our forces." By a Gentleman that was an eye witnesse.

It includes also articles touching the surrendering of Castle Rushen and Peel Castle, account of the arms and ammunition and provision in Andrew Fort, the Proposals of the Countess of Derby, etc. Small Quarto. The first number was published June 13th, 1650.

A perfect Diurnal of some passages of the Armies in England and Ireland.

The first number was published December 27th, 1649. It was licensed by the Secretary of the Army, which gave its papers authenticity connected therewith. That from Monday, November 10th, to Monday, November 17th, 1651, contains a similar account of transactions in the Isle of Man as are to be found in "Mercurius Politicus" of the same year.

JAMES CHALONER.—1656.

The Vale Royall of England, or the County Palatine of Chester, Illustrated. Wherein is contained a Geographical and Historical Description of that famous County, with all its Hundreds and Seats of the Nobility, Gentry, and Freeholders : its Rivers, Towns, Castles, Buildings, ancient and modern, adorned with Maps and Prospects, and the Coats of Arms belonging to every individual Family of the whole County. Performed by Wm. Smith and Wm. Webb, Gentlemen. Published by Mr. Daniel King. To which is annexed an exact Chronology of all its Rulers and Governors both in Church and State, from the time of the Foundation of the stately City of Chester to this very day : Fixed by Eclipses, and other Chronological Characters. Also an excellent Discourse of the Island of Man ; treating of the Island ; of the Inhabitants ; of the state Ecclesiastical ; of the Civil Government ; of the Trade ; and of the Strength of the Island. London. Printed by John Streater, in Little S. Bartholomews, and are to be sold at the Black Spread Eagle, at the West End of Paul's. Small Folio. 1656.

The portion relating to the Isle of Man has a separate title, as follows :—

A Short Treatise of the Isle of Man. Digested into six Chapters. Containing, I. A Description of the Island. II. Of the Inhabitants. III. Of the state Ecclesiasticall. IV. Of the Civill Government. V. Of the Trade. VI. Of the Strength of the Island. Illustrated with severall Prospects of the Island. By Daniel King. London. Printed by John Streater. 1656.

This Treatise is written by James Chaloner, and dedicated “For His Excellencie, Thomas Lord Fairfax, Lord of Man and of the Isles,” and dated “Middle Park, December 1, 1653.” 3 pp. The Island described, pp. 1 to 33. There is a Map of the Island, with eight small Views on the sides, Arms of the Island and Lord Fairfax ; two Plates with each three Views, and a Plate with three Coats of Arms.

Lord Fairfax made Commissioners for the governing of the Isle in 1652 (Aug. 17th), James Chaloner and Robt. Dynely, Esqrs., and Mr. Joshua Witton, Minister of the Gospel.

James Chaloner was also Governor from 1658 to 1660, and was one of the Judges of Charles I. He was the fourth son of Sir Thomas Chaloner, of Gisborough, in the county of York, born in London in 1603, and married Ursula Fairfax, by whom he had one son, Edmund Chaloner, born in 1635, and three daughters. He died in 1660.

In Gough's "History of the People called Quakers," Dublin, 1789, is the following note:—"This James Chaloner had been a member of the Long Parliament, and after the King's return had been sent for to London, in order, as was thought, to be tried among the regicides. The day he was to go he took something under pretext of physick, which killed him in a short time." "He had been a violent persecutor, and was heard to say, a little before his death, that he would quickly rid the Island of Quakers."

This Treatise has been reprinted in the 10th volume of the Manx Society's series, 1863, edited by the Rev. J. G. Cumming, M.A.

SIR W. DUGDALE AND R. DODSWORTH.—1655-61-73.

Monasticon Anglicanum, a History of the Abbeys, and other Monasteries, Friars, Cathedral and Collegiate Churches in England and Wales. Plates by Hollar and King. Folio. 3 vols.

Bishop Simon, in 1229, published the Statutes of the Constitution of the Diocese of Sodor, in the Isle of Man, which are printed in vol. i. pp. 711-12. A second edition, 1673-83.

An edition in 1718-23, with additions. A greatly enlarged edition, edited by Caley, Ellis, and Bandinel, in 8 folio volumes. London. 1817-46.

Sir William Dugdale was born at Shustoke, in Warwickshire, on the 12th September 1605, and died 10th February 1685-86. His ancestors were of Clitheroe, County Lancaster.

Roger Dodsworth was born on the 24th July 1585, and died in August 1654. The portion relating to the Isle of Man is reprinted in the Manx Society's series, vol. xviii. 1871, "Old Historians," pp. 46-77.

Map of the Isle of Man. Published at Amsterdam. Forming part of Bleau's "Atlas." This is Thomas Durham's.

Bleau's "Le Grand Atlas" was published at Amsterdam in 12 volumes, imperial folio, with upwards of a thousand large maps. Vol. v., England, contains maps of all the English counties, etc., by Speed and others, surrounded by portraits of old English kings, and numerous coats of arms, etc.

1659.

The Crown Garland of Golden Roses. London. 1659.

"The Lamentable fall of the Great Duchess of Gloucester, the wife of Duke Humphrey; how she did penance in London streets, barefooted, with a wax candle in her hand; and how at last she was banished the land, where, in exile, in the Isle of Man, she ended her days in woe."

This ballad was reprinted by the Percy Society in 1845. Reprinted in the Manx Society's series, vol. xvi. 1869, "Mona Miscellany," pp. 48-53.

GEORGE FOX, JOHN STUBBS, AND BENJ. FURLEY.—1660.

A Battledoor for Teachers and Professors to learn Singular and Plural; You to Many, and Thou to one. (In many Languages.) Small Folio. 1660.

Amongst the "many languages," besides the Oriental, are the Saxon, Welsh, Manx, Irish, Cornish, Bohemian, Slavonian, Polonian, Lithuanian, etc. There is an Appendix of curious colloquial and free phrases in English, which are stigmatised as improper. This work contains an early printed record of the Manx language.

WM. CHRISTIAN.—1663.

Judgment of the King in Council in William Christian's Case. Ordered to be printed in folio, as Acts of Parliament are, 14th August.

William Christian was executed at Hango Hill, 2d January 1663.

A Memoir of his Life, with full particulars of his Trial, from the documents in the Rolls Office, would form a very acceptable volume, and it is to be hoped the Manx Society will be able to accomplish this. He has been by various writers represented as a martyr and a traitor: the latter, I fear, is too true. By the Manx he is called "Illiam Dhône,"—Fair-haired William. He was buried in the Chancel of Kirk Malew.

WILLIAM PRYNNE.—1669.

Brief Animadversions and additional explanatory Amendments of Records to the Fourth part of the Institutes of the Lawes of England concerning the Jurisdiction of Courts. Compiled by the late Sir Edward Coke, Knt. By William Prynne, Esqre. London. Small Folio. 1669.

Of the Isle of Man, pp. 201-205, cap. 69; also cap. 69, pp. 384-386, additional records; and, last page after the table, an omitted record. Various records relating to this Island are printed in this volume.

In Oliver's "Monumenta," Manx Society, vol. i. p. 111, 1860, is a record of the Earl of Warwick's imprisonment in the Isle of Man, 22 Richard II., 1397, extracted from Prynne

LORD EDWARD COKE.—1671.

The Fourth part of the Institutes of the Laws of England, concerning the Jurisdiction of Courts. 1671. Fifth edition. Folio. Cap. 69.

Has passed through many editions, 1644, 1648, 1660, 1669, 1671, 1680. The 16th, with notes by Hargrave and Butler, in 3 vols. royal octavo, in 1809. Printed in "Abstract of the Laws," etc., by James Gell, Esq., vol. i. p. 153. Manx Society, vol. xii. 1867.

PETER HEYLYN, D.D.—1671.

A Help to English History, containing a succession of all the Kings of England, the English-Saxons, and the Britains : the Kings and Princes of Wales, the Kings and Lords of Man, the Isle of Wight. As also of all the Dukes, Marquesses, Earls, and Bishops thereof. With the description of the places from whence they had their titles ; together with the Names and Ranks of the Viscounts, Barons, and Baronets of England. By P. Heylyn, D.D. And since his death, continued to this present year, 1671, with the Coats of Arms of the Nobility, blazoned. London. Printed by E. Leach for T. Basset, at the George, in Fleet Street, and Chr. Wilkinson, at the Black Boy, over against St. Dunstan's Church. 1671. 12mo, pp. 557. Preface, pp. 6. "Kings and Lords of Man," pp. 43 to 46. "Bishops of Man," pp. 182 to 184.

The list of Kings, etc., commences with Godred, the son of Syrric, in 1065, and ends with "Charles Stanley, Earl of Derby and Lord of Man, now living, 1670."

The Bishops of Man—Amphibalus, first Bishop of Man, A.D. 360, and ends with Bishop Barrow.

REV. SAMUEL CLARK.—1671.

A Mirrour or Looking Glass both for Saints and Sinners, held forth in some thousands of Examples ; wherein is presented God's wonderful mercies to the one, so his severe judgments against the other. Collected out of the most Classique Authors, both ancient and modern, with some late examples observed by myself and others. Whereunto are added a geographical description of all countries in the known world ; as also the wonders of God in nature ; and the rare stupendious and costly works made by the Art and Industry of Man, the most famous Cities, Temples, Structures, Cabinets of Rarities, etc., which have been, or are now in the world. By Sa. Clark, late Pastour in Bennet Fink, London. London. Printed by Thos. Milbourn. 1671. The fourth edition in 2 vols. Folio. The first edition in 1646, 12mo.

The Isle of Man described.

R. BLOME.—1673.

Britannia, or a Geographical Description of England, Scotland, and Ireland, and the Isles and Territories thereto belonging. London. Folio. 1673. With Maps and Arms of Subscribers, and Plan of London, by W. Hollar.

The Isle of Man, pp. 320-322.

Taken from Camden and Speed.

England's Remarques ; giving an exact account of the several Shires, Counties, and Islands in England and Wales, etc. etc. London. Printed for Langley Curtis, in Goat Court upon Ludgate Hill. Small 12mo, pp. 276. 1678. Also an Account of all Monasteries, etc., Table of Kings, Bishops, etc., and Map of England.

The Isle of Man described at pp. 268-270.

CHRISTOPHER IRVINE.—1682.

Historiæ Scoticæ Nomenclatura, Latino vernacula. Edinbro'.
1682. Octavo.

An edition in 1819, foolscap octavo.

It states the Isle of Man to have been of much larger dimensions than at present.

1683.

The London Gazette. Containing the humble Address of the Governor and Principal Inhabitants of the Isle of Man to King Charles the Second. Folio. 1683.

G. GUL. LIEBNITZ.—1693.

Codex juris Gentium Diplomaticus. Hanoveræ. Folio.

The Act of Surrender made by Reginald to the See of Rome, 10th of October 1219, p. 5.

This is printed in Seacome's "History of the House of Stanley," p. 515, and Train's "History," vol. i. p. 135, 1845. Also in Oliver's "Monumenta," Manx Society, vol. ii. pp. 53-57, 1861.

BISHOP WILSON.—1699.

The Principles and Duties of Christianity ; for the Use of the Diocese of Man, with short and plain directions and prayers. In English and Manks. London. Octavo. 1699.

With preliminary Instructions to the Clergy of the Isle of Man, rules for marrying couples, and Devotions to put into their hands after marriage, "all which are here translated into Manks, and, I hope as well as can be expected, considering that this is the first Book published in this language."—P. 4, Introduction.

The second edition appeared in 1707. Octavo.

This book was afterwards corrected and improved, and published under the title of "The Knowledge and Practice of Christianity made easy to the meanest capacities ; or an Essay towards an Instruction for the Indians," under which title it was first published in 1740.

Chaloner states the Book of Common Prayer was translated into Manx by Bishop Philips in 1605, but it appears doubtful if this was ever printed. In the report of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, for 1764, May 4th, p. 115, they state it "never appeared."

WILLIAM SACHEVERELL.—1702.

An Account of the Isle of Man, its Inhabitants, Language, Soil, Remarkable Curiosities, the Succession of its Kings and Bishops down to the present time, by way of Essay, with a Voyage to I-Columb-kill. By William Sacheverell, Esq., late Governor of Man ; to which is added a Dissertation about the Mona of Cæsar and Tacitus ; and an account of the Ancient Druids, etc. By Mr. Thomas Brown, addressed in a letter to his learned friend Mr. A. Sellars. London : printed for J. Hartley, next the King's Head Tavern ; R. Gibson, in the Middle Row ; and Thos. Hodgson, over against Gray's Inn Gate, in Holborn, 1702. Small Octavo, pp. 175, dedicated "To Robert Sacheverell, Esq. of Barton, in Nottinghamshire," 4 pp. ; Preface, 2 pp. ; the Introduction, 7 pp. ; Isle of Man, p. 1 to 122 ; Voyage to I-Columb-kill, p. 123 to 144 ; Dissertation on Mona, p. 145 to 175.

William Sacheverell was Governor of the Isle of Man in 1692, and from the following letter, published in the "Norris Papers," by the Chetham Society, 1846, appears to have been dismissed from the Governorship of the Isle :—

“ Mr. Richard Norrys, Liverpool.

“ Dear Mr. Norrys—I am extremely obliged to you for your great care and trouble in assisting my wife in her passage hither, which, as it was a great comfort to me, so I doubt will be very short, for I hear I am out of my employment after all my care and diligence. All I can say is, I have served an unthankfull man, and I doubt it will turn very much to my prejudis ; but God’s will be done. I cannot yet leave the Island myself, but would have her goe for England, but she resolves to stay a winter with me. I desire my service to your brother when you see him. Pray remember me to Mr. Cooke and Mr. Holt, and believe me, etc.

“ WM. SACHEVERELL.

“ Castle Rushen, 15th August 1694.”

A reprint of this edition forms the first volume of the Manx Society’s publications, and has been most ably edited by the Rev. J. G. Cumming, M.A., with numerous valuable notes, 1859.

M. MARTIN.—1703.

A Description of the Western Islands of Scotland ; a particular Account of the Second Sight, etc. By M. Martin, Gent. London : printed for Andrew Bell, at the Cross Keys and Bible, in Cornhill, near Stock’s Market. 1703. Octavo, pp. 392.

The only distinct references to the Isle of Man are in the description of Iona, p. 257, and in the account of the instances of Second Sight, p. 313.

Many of the old customs and strange superstitions described in this curious book as prevailing in the Western Isles of Scotland, are similar to those formerly existing in the Isle of Man. An edition, the second and best, octavo. London. 1716.

The perusal of this book is said to have infused in Dr. Johnson the desire to visit the Hebrides.

T. RYMER.—1704-35.

Fœdera, Conventiones, Litteræ et cujuscunque generis Acta Publica, inter Reges Angliæ, et alios quos vis Imperatores, Reges, etc., ab anno 1101, ad nostra usque tempora habita aut tractata. London. 20 vols. Folio. Vol. i. p. 137. A.D. 1205. Time of King John. Vol. i. p. 342.

The second edition, edited by G. Holmes, London, 1727-35, folio, 20 vols. Third edition, 1745, 10 vols. folio. Also a new edition, edited by John Caley and Fred. Holbrooke, London, 1816-30, 3 vols. folio, extending from the year 1066 to 1377.

Mr. Rymer was born in the north of England, and educated at the Grammar School at Northallerton, Yorkshire, from whence he went to Sidney College, Cambridge. His warrant to search the public offices for this undertaking is dated August 26th, 1693. He died 14th December 1713. The "Fœdera" is an invaluable work, equally interesting to the antiquary and historian, the documents having been copied from the originals.

THOMAS BROWN.—1707.

A Short Dissertation about the Mona of Cæsar and Tacitus, the several names of Man, whether it was the principal Seat of the Ancient Druids, etc.; together with a short Account of the Institution, Discipline, and Opinions of the Druids. By Mr. Thomas Brown. London. 1707. Small Octavo.

This appeared at the end of Sacheverell's Account of the Isle of Man in 1702.

Mr. Brown considers that Cæsar alluded to the Isle of Man in his Account, though he never visited it, and Tacitus the Isle of Anglesea, and that the Isle of Man was not likely to be the head-quarters of the Druids, as they were more calculated for a stirring active life.

BISHOP WILSON.—1707.

The Church Catechism. Translated into Manks, and also printed in English. 1707.

An edition published in 1742, in 4 vols. quarto. The Survey of the Isle of Man is reprinted in the Manx Society's series, vol. xviii. 1871, "Old Historians," pp. 126-151.

1731.

A Book of Rates, of the Customs of all Goods and Commodities that are imported into and transported from the Isle of Man. Dublin. 1731. 12mo. 8 leaves.

GEORGE WALDRON.—1731.

The compleat Works in Verse and Prose of George Waldron, Gent., late of Queen's College. Oxon: printed for the Widow and Orphans, MDCCXXXI. Price 2 gs. Folio.

The portion relating to the Isle of Man commences—

"A Description of the Isle of Man, with some useful and entertaining reflections on the Laws, Customs, and Manners of its Inhabitants." Pp. 91 to 191.

"The great many leisure hours he had in the Isle of Man, where for some years he resided, in a post under his late and present Majesty, gave him an opportunity of writing a description of that place, with the customs and manners of the inhabitants, in a much more particular manner than any author before him has done. Most of those who treat on that subject have contented themselves with barely mentioning the situation, soil, produce, chief towns, and markets, whereas the chief curiosities consist in tradition, and a superstitious observance of old customs."—Preface.

Only 110 copies of this work were printed. Mr. Waldron resided on the Island in the capacity of a commissioner from the British Government. He was a gentleman of an ancient family in Essex, and received his education at Queen's College, in Oxford, and died in England just after he had obtained a new deputation from the Government.

The volume is dedicated "To the Right Honourable William O'Brian, Earl of Inchiquin," and signed "Theodosia Waldron."

The "History of the Isle of Man" is said to have been printed in 1726, 12mo, but I have not met with a copy. It was, however, written in that year.

An edition of the "History of the Isle of Man" appeared in 1744. Reprinted in volume xi. of the Manx Society's series, 1865, with numerous Notes, by the present Compiler.

1732.

The Independent Whig; or a Defence of Primitive Christianity, and of our Ecclesiastical Establishment against the Exorbitant Claims and Encroachments of Fantastical and Disaffected Clergymen. The 5th edition, with additions and amendments. In 2 volumes. London: printed for J. Peele, at Luke's Head, in Amen Corner, Paternoster Row, and sold by J. Osborn, at Dock Head, near Rotherhith, MDCCXXXII. Small Octavo.

In vol. i. pp. xxxvii. to lxxxi., is a letter to the publisher, signed W. A., Dec. 14th, 1731, detailing the whole of the particulars of Bishop Wilson's mandate against the introduction of this work in the Isle of Man.

The 6th edition was published in the same year, in one volume. The work commenced in 1720.

Many other editions were published, but the only interest the work possesses relative to the Island is Bishop Wilson's order for its seizure wherever found. It was ordered to be burnt.

FRANCIS PECK.—1732-5.—JAMES, SEVENTH EARL OF DERBY.

Desiderata Curiosa; or a Collection of divers scarce and curious Pieces (relating chiefly to matters of English History), in six books, containing upwards of one hundred and sixty choice Tracts, Memoirs, Letters, Wills, Epitaphs, etc., transcribed, many of them from the originals themselves, the rest from divers ancient MS. copies, or the MS. collections of sundry famous Antiquaries and other eminent Persons, both of the last and present age : the whole, as near as possible, digested into an order of time, and illustrated with ample Notes, Contents, additional Discourses, and a complete Index. By Francis Peck, M.A., Rector of Godeby, near Melton, in Leicestershire.

—“Referam toto notissima Regno

Metam. Lib. xiv.

Adorned with Cuts. London : printed MDCCXXXII. 2 vols. Folio.

In the 2d. vol., printed in 1735, No. xii., Lib. xi., is “The History and Antiquities of the Isle of Man. By James (Stanley), Earl of Derby, and Lord of Man : beheaded at Bolton, 15th Oct. 1651, with an Account of his many troubles and losses in the Civil War ; and of his own proceedings in the Isle of Man during his residence there in 1643, interspersed with large and excellent advices to his son Charles, Lord Strange, upon many curious points. From the original (all of his Lordship’s own handwriting) in the hands of the Honourable Roger Gale, Esq., the whole divided into Chapters, and illustrated with Contents and Notes ; as also an Introduction and Appendix, collected by the Editor.”

Pp. 18-50. Contains Introduction, 18 Chapters, and an Appendix.

An edition was published in 1779, in 2 vols. quarto.

This has been reprinted by the Manx Society in their 3d volume, 1860, edited by the Rev. William Mackenzie.

1733-38.

An Abstract of the Sufferings of the People called Quakers, for the Testimony of a good Conscience, from the time of their being first distinguished by that name, taken from original Records and other authentick Accounts, from the year 1650 to the year 1660. JOHN BALDWIN.—1750-1.

Liberty Invaded ; or, the Remarkable Case of an English Lady, presumptuously held in a Slavish Imprisonment within these his Majesty's Dominions, without Crime against, or any Demand upon, her. Addressed to the Honourable House of Commons.

Is Albion's once fam'd Spirit wholly flown ?
 Shall Britons under worst of Slaveries groan,
 In Mankish Jails immured !—
 What ! shall the Fair, whose Right is to be free, Crimeless in Dungeons mourn lost Liberty ?
 And England not resent the base Indignity !

London : printed for and sold by W. Owen, near Temple-Bar ; and G. Woodfall, near Charing-Cross, 1750-1. (Price one shilling.) Octavo, pp. 86.

Addressed "To the Honourable Representatives of the People in Parliament assembled," and signed John Baldwin, pp. i. to v.

JOHN BALDWIN.—1755.

British Liberty in Chains, and England's Ruin on the Anvil, in the Isle of Man, now commonly called Little France, addressed to all Free Britons, zealous for the glory of the King, the Liberties of the People, and safety of the Realm; especially to the laudable Association of Antigallicans. By John Baldwin, Esq.

“ Truth is bolder than a Lion,
Will ever stand upright and unshaken,
For God himself is truth.
Who, then, are they that durst oppose it ? ”

“ With her there is no receiving of Persons nor Difference ; but she doth the things which are just, and abstaineth from unjust and wicked things, and all good men favour her works : neither is there any unjust thing in her judgment ; and she is the Strength, and the Kingdom, and the Power and Majesty of all ages. Blessed be the God of Truth.”—1 Esd. 4.

London : printed for G. Woodfall, at Charing Cross ; R. Griffiths, in Paternoster Row ; and W. Owen, at 7 Temple Bar. MDCCLV. Octavo. Pp. 93.

A Pamphlet, on Mrs. Mary Hingston of Bristol's Imprisonment in the Isle of Man, for the Debt of her Husband. The author represents the Manx as enemies to the Interests of Great Britain, and inveighs against them for their treatment of Mrs. Hingston.

REV. JOHN F. DURAND.—1760. CAPTAIN THUROT.

Genuine and Curious Memoirs of the Famous Captain Thurot.

Written by the Rev. John Francis Durand, with some of Monsieur Thurot's Original Letters to that gentleman, now in England ; to which is added a much more faithful and particular Account than has hitherto been published, of his proceedings since his sailing from the Coast of France. Oct. 18, 1759.

“ He was a man, take him for all in all,
I shall not look upon his like again.”

Shakespeare.

London : printed for J. Burd, at the Temple Exchange Coffee House, and J. Williams, under St. Dunstan's Church, Fleet Street. 1760. Price one shilling. 12mo.

This Memoir was reprinted by the Percy Society in 1845. This pamphlet is referred to in the “ Gentleman's Magazine ” for March, 1760, p. 110 ; with an Account of the Action with Captain Elliot, who brought his prize into Ramsey Bay, and gave a Ball on board his frigate “ The Æolus,” to the principal inhabitants and strangers. This action between Elliot and Thurot became the subject of two pictures, painted by Wright of Liverpool, and have been engraved. Some relics of Thurot still exist, I believe, at Bishop's Court.

The various songs written on Captain Thurot are printed in the 21st volume of the Manx Society's series, "Mona Miscellany," second series, pp. 73-87, with a short Memoir.

The Scots Magazine.—1760.

An entertaining Account of Thurot's Naval Engagement with Captain Elliot in Ramsey Bay.

This Magazine commenced in 1739, and records many events connected with Manx History.

BISHOP WILSON.—1761.

The Principles and Duties of Christianity, for the Use of the Diocese of Man, with short and plain directions and Prayers. In English and Manx. Liverpool: printed by John Sadler, Harrington Street. 1761. Octavo.

The first edition appeared in 1699.

1762.

Plain Instructions for Young Persons in the Principles of the Christian Religion, in three Conferences between a Minister and his Disciples, designed for the use of the Isle and Diocese of Mann. By a Resident Clergyman. London: printed by J. and W. Oliver, Printers to the Society for promoting Christian Knowledge, in Bartholomew Close, near West Smithfield. 1762. Octavo, pp. 118.

1763.

The Four Gospels and Acts, in Manx. London. 1763. Octavo.

This was the first edition, and only a few copies were supplied to the Clergy, with a request "that they would insert freely their remarks on the blank pages, as the best method that can be proposed for furnishing from the whole one correct edition." I have only met with a very few of these earlier editions of the Scriptures translated into the Manx language, but prior to this the Manx were probably the only Christian Church in the world which were absolutely destitute of a printed Copy of the Holy Scriptures in the vulgar tongue. This was afterwards amply supplied under the auspices of the Society for promoting Christian Knowledge. For a full account of the progress of these Translations, vide Appendix to the Memoirs of Bishop Hildesley, by the Rev. W. Butler, 1799, pp. 211-260, for "Narrative of the origin, progress, and completion of the Manx Version of Holy Scripture, and other religious Books, for the use of the native Inhabitants of the Isle of Mann."

An edition of the Gospels and Acts was published in 1765.

1763.

The Christian Monitor, in Manx and English. London. 1763.
Octavo.

The Book of Common Prayer, and Administration of the Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, according to the use of the Church of England; together with the Psalter or Psalms of David. Pointed as they are to be sung or said in Churches. Translated into Manx, for the use of the Diocese of Mann. London: printed by J. and W. Oliver, Printers to the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, in Bartholomew Close, near West Smithfield. MDCCCLXV. Octavo. Not paged from A to CCC.

The Society for promoting Christian Knowledge made grants in aid of the printing of this. Fifty copies were printed in 4to, for the use of the Churches, and for presents.

An edition in 12mo, in Manx, was published at Ramsey in 1768.

This Manx Prayer Book contains no prayer for the High Court of Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, but instead of it is a prayer for the Members of the House of Keys, together with a prayer for the Lord and Lady of the Isle, as clauses in the Litany, and in the prayer for the Royal Family, viz.—“ And with them the Lord and Lady, and Rulers of this Isle.”

JOHN SEACOME.—1767.

Memoirs, containing a Genealogical and Historical Account of the Ancient and Honourable House of Stanley from the Conquest to the Death of James, late Earl of Derby, in the year 1735 ; as also a full Description of the Isle of Man, etc. Manchester : printed by Joseph Harrop, opposite the Exchange. 1767. Quarto, pp. 238.

Isle of Man—A Complete History of the Isle of Man, pp. 189-238. Another edition was printed by Harrop in 1783.

This is Seacome's History, without name, dedication, or preface, and otherwise curtailed. The first edition was published without date in 1736, but the work was completed in 1741. He has borrowed largely from Sacheverell in his Description of the Isle of Man, but furnishes other valuable information. He had the use of Bishop Rutter's papers, "the historian of the family," and most probably these papers are now in the archives at Knowsley, and would be well worth examination by the Manx Society. There is a Portrait of Bishop Rutter, at Knowsley, as Archdeacon of Man, painted by Dobson, and engraved in the "Stanley Papers," part 3, Chetham Society, vol. lxx. 1867.

1767.

Yn Vible Casherick—The Holy Bible, in Manx. J. Ware and Son, Whitehaven. 1772. 2 vols. Octavo. A few copies in 4to, in 1 vol., for the use of the Clergy.

It was first printed in this year under the auspices of Bishop Hildesley, who received the last portion of it on Saturday, November 28, 1772, and died on the 7th December following. The printing of this Manx version of the Holy Scriptures had been a work of great labour, and the latter portion was attended with an accident which had almost proved fatal to the good work. The Rev. Dr. Kelly, author of "The Manx Grammar" (already published by the Manx Society, 1859), was, on the 19th March 1771, on his way from the Island to Whitehaven, with a portion of the MS., from Deuteronomy to Job, shipwrecked in a storm, when, "with no small difficulty and danger the MS. was preserved by holding it above the water for the space of five hours, and this was almost the only article saved." The Rev. Dr. Kelly transcribed the whole of the Old Testament, besides the corrected edition of the New Testament and Prayer Book. The names of the various Translators will be found in Butler's Life of Bishop Hildesley, p. 252.

An edition in 8vo. Whitehaven. 1775. Also distributed by the Society for promoting Christian Knowledge.

WM. CAMDEN.—1772.

Britannia: or a Chorographical Description of Great Britain and Ireland; together with the adjacent Islands, written in Latin by Wm. Camden, Clarenceux King-at-Arms; and translated into English, with additions and improvements, by Edmund Gibson, D.D., late Lord Bishop of London. London: printed for W. Boyer, W. Whiston, etc. etc. MDCCLXXII. Folio. 2 vols. Portraits and Maps.

This fourth edition is printed from a copy of 1722, left corrected by the Bishop for the Press. The former editions by Bishop Gibson are—1695, folio, 1 vol. ; 1722, folio, 2 vols. ; 1753, folio.

In vol. ii. pp. 391-398, a new Survey and Description of the Isle of Man. Drawn up by Dr. Thomas Wilson, late Bishop of the Island, and communicated by him to be inserted in this work. The first part, pp. 390-391. By John Meryk, Bishop.

Four Runic Inscriptions, pp. 399-400 :—1. Upon a stone cross laid for a lintel over a window in Kirk Michael Church. 2. Upon a stone cross at Kirk Michael. 3. Upon a stone cross at Kirk Braddan. 4. Upon a stone cross in Kirk Andreas Churchyard.

Pp. 479 to 484, “A Chronicle of the Kings of Man” seems to have been written by the Monks of Russin. “A continuation of the foregoing History collected out of other Authors,” p. 485.

A reprint is in the Manx Society’s series, vol. xviii. 1871, pp. 4-33, “Old Historians.”

RICHARD ROLT.—1773.

The History of the Island of Man ; from the earliest Accounts to the present time. Compiled from the Public Archives of the Island, and other authentic Materials. By the late Mr. Rolt. London : printed for W. Nicole, No. 51 in Paul’s Churchyard. MDCCLXXIII. Octavo, pp. 152. Index and Appendix (not numbered) pp. 24.

An edition is said to have been printed in 1782, but I have not met with it.

Mr. Rolt was the author of “The Lives of the principal Reformers, with a general History of the Reformation from 1360 to 1600 :” London, Folio, 1759. “Memoirs of the Life of the Rt. Hon. John Lindesay, Earl of Crawford :” London, 1753, Quarto ; and other works.

FRANCIS GROSE.—1773-77.

The Antiquities of England and Wales. By Francis Grose, Esq., F.A.S., with Supplement. London. 1773-77. Six vols. Royal Quarto. The first edition.

In the sixth vol. is a description of the following antiquities, accompanied with views of the Abbey Bridge at Ballasalla :—The Cathedral Church of St. German's, in Peel Castle—a plan of the same ; St. Patrick's Church and Armoury in Peel Castle ; a general View of Peel Castle ; Rushen Abbey ; Castle Rushen—two plates ; The Tinwald—two plates ; St. Trinion's Church ; Map of the Island.

Vol. vi. pp. 197-214 ; vol. viii. pp. 161-162. The views were taken in 1774.

Editions of the work were also published in 1783-1797.

Reprinted in the 18th volume of the Manx Society's series, 1871, pp. 153-170, " Old Historians."

JOHN CAMPBELL.—1774.

A Political Survey of Britain : being a series of Reflections on the Situation, Lands, Inhabitants, Revenues, Colonies, and Commerce of this Island. Intended to show that we have not as yet approached near the summit of Improvement, but that it will afford employment to many generations before they push to their utmost extent the natural advantage of Great Britain. The Address, pp. 1 to 12; Report, pp. 15 to 28. Address dated Douglas, Isle of Man, Dec. 30, 1780. The Report dated June 7, 1780.

1781.

Copy of the Report of the Deemster, Clerk of the Rolls, and Attorney-General of the Isle of Man, on a Bill proposed to be brought into Parliament, entitled “A Bill to explain and amend an Act made in the Fifth Year of the Reign of his present Majesty, intituled ‘An Act for carrying into Execution a contract made pursuant to the Act of Parliament of the Twelfth of his late Majesty King George the First, between the Commissioners of his Majesty’s Treasury and the Duke and Duchess of Atholl, the Proprietors of the Isle of Man and their Trustees, for the purchase of the said Island and its Dependencies, under certain exceptions therein particularly named,’ and to ascertain and establish the Jurisdiction of the Manorial Courts of the Most Noble John, Duke of Atholl, in the said Island, and to enable the said Duke and his Heirs to exercise and enjoy certain Powers and Remedies therein mentioned." With Remarks thereon. Quarto, pp. 94.

The Report is addressed "To the Honourable Richard Dawson, Esq., His Majesty's Lieutenant-Governor of the Isle of Man," and signed by "John Quayle, Thos. Moore, Wadsworth Busk, 27th April 1780," to which are added further remarks, dated "February 12th, 1781." This is a report on a Bill to amend an Act commonly called the "Vesting Act," and contains many curious particulars respecting the manners, customs, and laws of the Island. £350,000 per annum was at "the Vesting" conceived to be acquired to the public by the Resumption that was made. A tolerably good bargain forced by the Crown from the Duke of Atholl.

John Quayle, Clerk of the Rolls; Thomas Moore, Deemster. Wadsworth Busk, Attorney-General, was knighted in 1781.

1782.

These are accompanied with short letterpress descriptions, which are copied from Grose.

REV. JAMES JOHNSTONE, A.M.—1786.

Antiquitates Celto-Normannicæ, containing the Chronicle of Man and the Isles, abridged by Camden, and now first published, complete, from the original MS. in the British Musæum ; with an English translation, and notes. To which are added Extracts from the Annals of Ulster, and Sir J. Ware's Antiquities of Ireland ; British Topography by Ptolemy, Richard of Cirencester, the Geographer of Ravenna, and Andrew, Bishop of Cathness : together with accurate Catalogues of the Pictish and Scottish Kings. By the Rev. James Johnstone, A.M., Rector of Maghera Cross ; and Member of the Royal Societies of Edinburgh and Copenhagen. Printed by Aug. Frid. Stein, at Copenhagen. MDCCLXXXVI. Quarto, pp. 152.

Dedicated "To the Right Reverend John Hotham, D.D., Lord Bishop of Clogher."

Mr. Johnstone has given the portion omitted by Camden : this gives a list of the Bishops down to 1375. This chronicle has been printed by the Manx Society, in their 4th volume, 1860, from the copy in the British Museum in the Cottonian collection, under the careful editorship of Dr. Oliver, one of the Honorary Secretaries. "Monumenta," vol. i. pp. 125-215. Printed also in Professor Munch's edition, 1860.

BISHOP THOMAS TANNER.—1787.

Notitia Monastica ; or an Account of all the Abbies, Priors, and Houses of Friars, formerly in England and Wales. And also of all the Colleges and Hospitals founded before A.D. 1540, with many additions, by James Nasmyth, M.A. Cambridge : 1787. Folio.

Article, "Bishop of Man." The best edition. The greater part was destroyed by the fire at Mr. Nichol's printing-office, 8th March 1808. The first edition, folio. London : 1744.

The Duke of Athol's Claim, under a Parliamentary entail, of the Isle of Man. Quarto.

Some few copies were printed and circulated by order of the Duke of Atholl.

ROBERT BEATSON.—1788.

A Political Index to the Histories of Great Britain and Ireland, or a Complete Register of the Hereditary Honours, Public Offices, and Persons in Office, from the earliest periods to the present time. By Robert Beatson, Esq. The second edition, corrected and much enlarged. In two volumes.

London : printed by G. G. and J. Robinson, Pater Noster Row. 1788. Octavo.

Vol. i. pp. 181-183. The Bishops of the Isle of Man, giving a list of 58, commencing A.D. 447 with Germanus, and ending in 1782 with Claudius Crigan.

Vol. ii. at pp. 47-49, entitled, "The See of the Isles," the list of Bishops begins with Amphibalus, A.D. 360, then Germanus, 447, and the 36th A.D. 1388, "John 3rd. The Isle of Man was now separated from this See, which contained all Buteshire, and most of the Western Islands."

A third edition was published in three volumes. Octavo. London : 1806.

WM. CAMDEN.—1789.

Britannia ; A new translation by Richard Gough, Esq., in 3 vols. folio, from the Edition published by the Author in MDCVII.

This was reprinted, in 4 vols. folio, in 1806 ; a highly valuable work. The Chronicle of the Kings of Man, etc., begins A.D. 1065 and ends A.D. 1266, but has been continued in a later hand to 1316. Vol. iii. p. 705.

Mr. Gough, in his edition of Camden, prefers this copy of the Chronicles of the Kings of Man to that published in 1787 by Mr. Johnstone, from a fine old MS. in vellum in the Cottonian Library, marked Julius A., VII. 3, because in the former the dates are all right in the original, whereas in the latter they are made so by the Editor in his margin. Mr. Camden's MS. begins with the death of the Confessor, rightly putting it A.D. 1065. Mr. Johnstone's begins 47 years sooner, or, as he has corrected it in his margin, 51 years. Mr. Camden's begins at A.D. 1065, and ends A.D. 1266 ; but has been continued in a later hand to 1316. Mr. Johnstone's copy begins at A.D. 1000 or 1015, and ends 1376, and contains some additional matter foreign to the History of the Island. Vide Feltham's "Tour," 1798, p. 71.

PETER FANNIN.—1789.

A correct Plan of the Isle of Man, by Peter Fannin, Master in His Majesty's Royal Navy.

Published January 1, 1789, by the Author, and by H. Ashley, Engraver, King Street, Cheapside, London.

Inscribed to "The most noble Prince John, Duke and Marquis of Atholl," etc.

A large sheet, 20 inches by 28 inches. Was generally esteemed for its nautical correctness. On it is a Plan of Douglas Harbour; and a View of the south side of Douglas Harbour, from his Grace the Duke of Atholl's house.

JOHN GOUGH.—1789.

A History of the People called Quakers. From their Rise to the present time, compiled from Authentic Records and from Writings of that People. By John Gough. Dublin: printed for Robert Jackson, Meath Street. MDCCLXXXIX. Octavo. 4 vols.

The 4th vol. was published in 1790. John Gough was a Bookseller and Quaker.

Vol. ii. chap. xxi. Isle of Man. Pp. 274 to 292. On the persecutions of this sect in the Isle of Man in 1662 to 1666, Wm. Callow and Evan Christian suffered severe imprisonment in Peel Castle, "the former for refusing to pay 16d. and the latter 2d., demanded by a priest for bread and wine for the sacrament."

Vol. i. pp. 298 to 301. In 1656 to 1659 similar acts are recorded. James Chaloner, the Governor, was heard to say, "he would quickly rid the Island of Quakers." P. 300.

JOHN STOWELL.—1790.

A Sallad for the Young Ladies and Gentlemen of Douglas.
 Raised by Tom the Gardener. (Price four pence a bunch.) Liverpool: printed in the year 1790. Quarto.
 Pp. 20.

A Satire: Some copies have the following title:—"Sallad obedient, and devoted servant, Candidus."

JOHN STOWELL.—1790.

The Retrospect; or, a Review of the Memorable Events of Mona in the year 1790. By Philanthus.

"Eye Nature's walks, shoot folly as it flies,
 And catch the manners living as they rise."—Pope.

Price one shilling.

No name, place, or printer. 8vo, pp. 55. A Poetical Satire:
 At page 19 is a woodcut of the House of Keys, and a representation of the twenty-four addressed by "Squire Saugrogh" (Major T——), in the act of killing a louse, which he had just taken from his head, and on a label from his mouth is inscribed—

— "Thus ev'ry tyrant should be serv'd,
 Who dares to trample on a Manxman's head."

Mr. John Stowell was a native of Peel, and master of the School there; also a Notary Public, to which he was appointed 22d January 1799. He died 21st July 1799.

RICHARD TOWNLEY.—1791.

A Journal kept in the Isle of Man, giving an Account of the Wind, Weather, Daily Occurrences for upwards of eleven months : with observations on the soil, clime, and natural productions of that Island ; also, Antiquities of various kinds, now extant there : a trait of the Manners and Customs, both general and peculiar, of the inhabitants : an Account of their Harbours, great usefulness of Douglas Harbour ; neglect, and want of repairs. Description of their noble herring fishery, etc. Together with a large Appendix : containing an Account of the ancient forms of Government, and mild administration of justice, under the noble House of Stanley ; with Transcripts and Extracts from the Ancient Statute Books of the Isle : together with explanatory notes and observations. In two volumes. By Richard Townley, Esq. Whitehaven : printed by J. Ware and Son. Sold by T. Cadell, W. Richardson, and R. Baldwin, London ; D. Prince, Oxford ; J. and J. Merrill, Cambridge ; and the Booksellers in Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds, Kendal, Lancaster, etc. etc. 1791. Two vols. Octavo.

Vol. i. pp. 320 ; vol. ii. pp. 322, dedicated “ To the Right Hon. Edward, Earl of Derby,” dated “ Douglas (Isle of Man), April 18, 1790.” The preface, dated “ Isle of Man, April 19, 1790,” and “ An Apology to the candid Reader,” that his journal appears on so coarse a paper, dated Ambleside, January 1st, 1791. The journal commences on the 30th April 1789, and ends 21st April 1790. Appendix, containing the Ancient History, etc.,—a gossiping and amusing work, in which many trifles are recorded and extracts from curious unpublished MSS. It was severely satirised by John Stowell of Peel, in his “ Literary Quixote.” The author was Colonel Richard Townley, of Belfield Hall, near Rochdale, Lancashire. He was the patron of John Collier, alias "Tim Bobbin," the author of "Lancashire Dialect." Colonel Townley died in 1802.

JOHN STOWELL.—1791.

The Literary Quixote ; or, the Beauties of Townley versified. Printed at the Printing Office, in Douglas ; and sold by the Booksellers in Liverpool, Manchester, Whitehaven, Oxford, Cambridge, etc. etc. No date. Small Quarto, pp. 16.

A Portrait of Richard Townley, Esq., faces the title, in the act of writing his journal, and underneath,

" This day might pass for yesterday's own brother :
Two peas were never seen more like each other."

An amusing Satire on "Townley's Journal," without the author's name, but written by John Stowell, the author of "The Retrospect," etc. Only one number appeared.

Mr. Stowell published several Elegies and occasional Poems, chiefly anonymously, now become exceedingly rare. Also "An Epistle to the Earl of Lonsdale," signed Petrus Pendarus Secundus, Gent. Douglas. Isle of Man. 1794. Pp. 33.

There are seven Maps, Nos. 1 to 7. Some few were struck off before the Nos. were attached, as Map of Cornah Harbour.

This is one of the most important Documents connected with the History of the Isle of Man, giving an account of the Constitution, Government, Customs, and Statistics of the country. Only a very few copies were printed by order of the British Government, to ascertain the Regal and Manorial Rights of the Duke of Atholl, etc. In the Appendix will be found the various Allegations; Examinations of numerous persons connected with the Government; Resolutions of the House of Keys and other bodies; Petitions and Appeals of the Duke of Atholl; Statutes; Statements of Revenue; on the Constitution and Suggestions for the benefit of the Island, containing altogether a mass of most useful and important information for the Historian.

The Commissioners, appointed 8th September 1791, were, John Spranger, Master in Chancery ; W. Grant, an English Lawyer and Member of Parliament ; William Osgoode, an English Lawyer and Chief-Justice of Quebeck ; William Roe, Commissioner of the Customs at London ; and David Reid, Commissioner of the Customs at Edinburgh, Esquires—all of whom signed the Report, 21st April 1792. Mr. Reid also made a separate Report, with his own opinion upon each head of the Inquiry, dated 16th March 1792. These observations are printed from pages 95 to 133.

The Appendix, containing the information upon which the Commissioners founded their Report, embraces every subject connected with the Island. A list of the papers contained in it is here given, as the work is seldom met with, and bears a high price.

Case of Major-General William Stapleton on the Investigation ordered by his Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, into the Charges preferred by General Stapleton, against his Honor John Lace, Esq., his Majesty's First Deemster in the Isle of Man. No place or date on Title. Octavo. Pp. 30. Dated "21st October 1809."

Case arose in consequence of an affray at the Theatre, in Douglas, caused by Major-General Stapleton having in a mere frolic pushed a Mr. Johnson forward on the stage, when the General and Sir John Piers and Captain Edwards were summoned to appear in the Deemster's Court in Castle Rushen, when Deemster Lace reflected on the character of General Stapleton. Memorial and correspondence of the transaction.

NATHANIEL JEFFERYS.—No date.—[1809.] (Mr. Bell.)

A Descriptive and Historical Account of the Isle of Man ; with a view of its Society, Manners, and Customs ; partly compiled from various authorities, and from observations made in a Tour through the Island in the summer of 1808. Dedicated to his Majesty, by Nathaniel Jefferys, formerly representative in Parliament for the City of Coventry. To which is added a Map of the Isle of Man, with the roads described, and every information necessary to the convenience of the Pleasurable and Commercial Traveller. Also, a short account of the Towns of Whitehaven and Workington, with the fashionable Bathing Places of Allonby and Skinburness, on the coast of Cumberland, and the entrance to Scotland across the Solway Frith. Newcastle-upon-Tyne : printed for the Author, by Preston and Heaton ; and sold by R. Miller, Bookseller, Mosley Street, and all other Booksellers in the United Kingdom. (Price 8s.) Small octavo. Pp. 200. Dedication, "To the King," pp. iii. to viii. Preface, pp. ix. to xxxviii.

George Woods observes in the preface to his Account of the Isle of Man (1811), that he considers it as stated, to be "a sort of literary license for picking and stealing," and "The authorities of the Jeweller to the Prince of Wales appear to have been Robertson and Feltham. Had the treatise been valuable, it would have checked my own presumption. The period of ten or fourteen years makes considerable alteration in the appearance of an improving country ; and the author has not been careful to separate what continues to be true from that which is so no longer."

Mr. Jefferys was Jeweller to the Prince of Wales (George IV.), against whom he had a claim for nearly £100,000 for Jewels, about 1806. Nineteen pages of the Preface relate to these transactions with the Prince and to his publications connected therewith. He was once M.P. for Coventry.

Mr. Bell, of Gateshead, wrote the Account of the Isle of Man in Jefferys' parlour, and the latter put the Preface to it.

N. JEFFERYS.—1809. (Mr. Bell.)

The same Title, but without the Author's name, and the date inserted.

In the Preface, at pp. 21 to 38, is the Manx Magna Charta, instead of the Matters relating to the Prince of Wales. The History, pp. 39 to 200.

THOMAS CALLISTER.—1815.

An accurate, interesting, and peculiarly entertaining Description of that lucrative branch of business the Herring Fishery of the Isle of Man, which affords Employment for more than three months every year to above Five thousand poor people, to a number of Coopers all the year round, and to a variety of other crafts periodically. Of the Superior Quality of the Red Herrings manufactured in Douglas, as well as that of the Pickled Herrings, in a comparative point of view with all such as are caught and cured elsewhere. Of the various curious modes of preparing these Monarchs of the Finny Tribe, throughout the Island in their fresh state, for immediate consumption, and also the several amusing ways of making use of Pickled Herrings. A particular and very pleasing account of the flourishing Town of Douglas, which has been long considered as the Emporium of the Island with regard to Commerce ; comprising its present state, its commodious Quay and Harbour, its new Streets, the many genteel Houses built in the Modern Taste in many of the old Streets, the several places of Public Worship, the grand new Public Library, the famous new Charity School, the large new Poor House, etc. Likewise a List of the several Packets and constant Traders, and a correct abstract of the British Act of Parliament passed in July 1814, repealing the old Harbour Dues of the Island and substituting new ones in Lieu thereof, on the Fishing Boats and on all British and Foreign Vessels not only entering its Harbours but even anchoring in its Bays ; also the Duties payable on every kind of Merchandize imported into the Island. To all which is added a very curious, descriptive, entertaining and picturesque view of the much admired Seats and Estates of the Nobility and various subjects. By Kermotte Stowell. Presented to ———. By the Society for upholding the Rights of the People. Dublin: printed by J. J. Nolan, 3 Suffolk Street. 1816. 8vo.

On "Paper Currency." "Letter to a Member of the House of Keys on the system of Custom House Fees." In a note, p. 14, "Two Clergymen informed me that to the few Public Institutions which are in this Country, they did not know of his Grace (the Duke of Atholl) contributing one farthing." "Memorials of Kermotte Stowell to the Right Hon. Lord Viscount Sidmouth, on not having the Lamps properly lighted up on the Quays of Douglas, and neglect of the Harbour Lights." Dated "9th March 1816," and 21st April 1816. A Petition of K. S. to the Same, respecting the Duke of Atholl enclosing part of the Sea Beach extending towards Pollock Rocks, and his Grace conveying the same to Mr. Wm. Scott, the Collector of Douglas Port, and nephew (by marriage) to his Grace, and that the said Wm. Scott took the Stones from the Old Fort to enclose the same. Praying that these enclosures may be demolished. Dated "Douglas, 18th May 1816."

In Mr. Feltham's "Tour," 1798, on the title page is given a view of this Old Fort, attributed by Waldron to the Romans, but more probably erected by the Picts. At one time it was commanded by a Constable and Lieutenant, and defended by four pieces of ordnance, and four of the townsmen were bound to keep watch and ward upon the ramparts.

Paternoster Row. 1816. 8vo, pp. 436. Introduction, Table of Contents, and List of Subscribers, pp. v. to xl. Map and View of Peel Castle at the time of the Revestment.

This History was written by a Lady. Mr. Wm. Cubbon of Denny, N.B., in a letter to Paul Bridson, Esq., January 24th, 1862, says, "She was a lady of no ordinary cleverness. I saw her only once, and I thought at the time that nature had made a mistake at her formation, and made her of the materials designed for a drum-major! She appeared to me to be quite qualified to hold the scissors of destiny, or stir the cauldron with Macbeth's witches! And with her pen she knew not to show mercy to the living or the dead. Stanley Bullock, Esq., her husband, was a man of a much more meek and quiet spirit."

REV. HUGH STOWELL.—1821.

Memoirs of the Rev. Joseph Stowell.

—“ I had a brother once :
 Peace to the memory of a man of worth !
 A man of letters, and of manners too ;
 Of manners sweet as virtue ever wears,
 When gay good humour dresses her in smiles.”

Cowper.

By the Rev. Hugh Stowell, Rector of Ballaugh, Isle of Mann. Wellington, Salop : printed by and for F. Houlston and Son ; and sold by Scatchard and Letterman, Ave Maria Lane, London. 1821. 12mo. — MARSDEN.—[1823.]

Historical Notices of Edward and William Christian, two characters in Peveril of the Peak. Printed by B. Bensley, Bolt Court, Fleet Street. Small octavo. Pp. 42. No place or date.

“Peveril of the Peak” was first published in 1822, and the “Historical Notices” have been reprinted in the later editions of that work in “Appendix to Introduction,” along with the “Lament for William Dhône,” and a copy of the Order of the Privy Council, dated “Whitehall, 5th August 1663,” also in “Antiquary’s Portfolio,” 1825. This edition was privately printed, and very few copies circulated, being afterwards called in by Mr. Marsden when he left the Island. He resided for some years in the neighbourhood of Castletown. His brother, J. A. Marsden, of Liverpool, planted the grounds at Glen Helen and Rhenass in this Island, now much resorted to by strangers. In the first edition of this List it was, in error, attributed to Col. Wilks, author of the “History of Mysur.”

THOMAS HOWARD.—1830.

Howard's “Vade Mecum” or Tourist's Companion from Manchester (by the Railway) to Liverpool, and thence through to the Isle of Man. Together with a Map of the Island. Dedicated by permission to Sir George Drinkwater, Knt. Price 2s. 6d. Sold by Worrall and Taylor, Clarendon Buildings, and Mr. Clement, artist, Bold Street, Liverpool. On a sheet in a case. Date on the Map 1830. Published by Quiggin, Douglas.

Mr. Howard issued proposals for publishing a work on the Island, and obtained upwards of 500 subscribers to it, but the MS. was by some means lost and the work never appeared. Connected with it the following advertisement was issued :—
“15th September 1828. By Particular Desire, and with high and extensive Patronage, will be published in the shape of a small octavo, a Work, by T. Howard, Esquire, to be entitled An 18 Years' Residence on the Isle of Man. The work is intended to convey, in a manner and style as pleasing and agreeable as possible, correct information on those subjects connected with the Island which must be equally useful to Strangers and Native Residents, whether men of business or pleasure. The work will comprise also the most active and eventful period of the Author's Life ; noticing in a particular manner the many advantages and disadvantages resulting from a married life ; also, every vicissitude likely to amuse or instruct will be carefully narrated, without the slightest intention to outrage the feelings of the scrupulous or wound the keen sensibility of the delicate. The author, solicitous only to please, will, without regard to rank or station, insert every biographical incident that may appear worthy of notice. A very few highly finished sketches of the most interesting views and scenery will be included in the work.”

The original subscription book, in the autograph of almost every respectable inhabitant of the Island, is in my possession. Mr. Howard was well known under the cognomen of “The Duke of Norfolk.” His portrait was published in 1834.

EDWARD TAGART.—1832.

A Memoir of the late Captain Peter Heywood, R.N., with Extracts from his Diaries and Correspondence. By Edward Tagart. London: published by Effingham Wilson, Royal Exchange. 1832. Octavo.

Preface and Contents, pp. viii; Memoir, pp. 332.

This is the Memoir of a Native of the Isle of Man, who was born at the Nunnery on the 6th June 1773, his father being a Deemster of the Island. He was an officer on board the Bounty, when a portion of the crew mutinied, on the 28th of April 1789, and for which he was afterwards tried. The letters of this truly honourable young officer are well worthy of perusal; and those of his warmly attached sister, Nessy Heywood, dated from the Isle of Man, breathe the most heroic devotion and affection for her brother, seldom if ever to be met with. He died on the 10th of February 1831.

LIEUT. JOHN SHIPP.—1832.

Kelly*," before His Honour Deemster Heywood and a Special Jury, for £500 damages for said arrest, for which the Jury returned a verdict £150 damages, and costs, in favour of the Plaintiff. Tried at Castletown, 9th October 1833, but appealed against by the defendant to the House of Keys. With an Appendix, containing Copies of the Documents, Letters, etc., read, referred to, and exhibited in Court, illustrative of the whole litigation. Liverpool: printed for the Compiler, by Evans, Chegwin, and Hall, Castle Street. 1833. Octavo. Pp. 23. Appendix, pp. ix.

JOHN WOOD.—1833.

Plan of Douglas, Isle of Man, from Actual Survey. By John

Wood, 1833, Surveyor, Cannan Grove, Edinbro. Sheet 26 in. by 35 in. This Plan also contains a Plan of Douglas Bay and Harbour, with Sir William Hillary's Breakwater. 1826. Also a Plan of Castletown.

Mona's Herald.—1833.

The first number published August 3, 1833. Douglas : printed by William Walls, New Bond Street, and Robert Farghar, Atholl Street, and published at the Herald Office, and General Printing Establishment, New Bond Street Lane.

ANNE TALLANT.—1834.

Octavia Elphinstone, a Manx Story ; and Lois, a Drama, founded on a Legend in the Noble Family of ———. By Miss Ann Tallant. In 2 vols. London : J. Hatchard and Son, 187 Piccadilly. 1834. 12mo.

A note at the end of vol. ii. says—This tale is founded on an unfortunate accident which occurred to Miss Ann Fell, of Douglas, a young lady of 17 or 18 years of age, whilst walking on Douglas Head on the evening of Tuesday the 20th 18(19), who fell down the steep rocks at "The Pidgeon's Cove," about three miles to the south of Douglas Head, upon a shelving part of the rock, a considerable distance below, and which was nearly surrounded by the sea. She remained on this rock until Friday the 23d, when she was seen by some boatmen, who conveyed her to Douglas in their boat, and restored her to her parents. The only subsistence she had during her stay on the rock was by a small spring of water trickling down, but so small she could scarcely avail herself of it, scooped up with the aid of a flitter shell, which she had found. Miss Fell died in Douglas in 1875.

J. TAGGART.—1834.

A Plan of Douglas, Isle of Man. Surveyed by J. Taggart, Architect. 1834. On a Sheet, 20 in. by 14.

1834.

An Act for better Supplying the Town of Douglas with Water Douglas : printed for the Company by J. Quiggin. 1834. Price Sixpence. Octavo. Pp. 16.

1834.

Subscriptions for Building a Tower of Refuge from Shipwreck. on St. Mary's Rock, in Douglas Bay, Isle of Man, on the Plan proposed by Sir William Hillary, Bart. Printed by G. Jefferson. 1834. Octavo. Pp. 4.

Total cost of the Tower £254:12s. Of this sum Sir Wm. Hillary paid £78:6s.

ARCHIBALD CREGEEN.—1835.

A Dictionary of the Manx Language, with the corresponding Words or Explanations in English ; interspersed with many Gaelic Proverbs : the Parts of Speech, the Genders, and the Accents of the Manx Words are carefully marked ; with some etymological observations never before published. By Archibald Cregeen, Arbory, Isle of Man. "Ballyn dy loayragh shiu ooilley lish glaraghyn," etc.—St. Paul ; 1 Cor. xiv. 5. Douglas : printed and published for the Author by J. Quiggin, North Quay : Whittaker, Treacher, and Arnot, London : Evans, Chegwin, and Hall, Liverpool. MDCCCXXXV. Octavo. Pp. 188.

The Author died before he could complete the Second Part, the English and Manx. There is a valuable Introduction to the Manx Language, preceding the Dictionary, giving an idea of the construction of the Language, and forming the outlines of a Manks Grammar. The Author observes, "It appears like a piece of exquisite net-work interwoven together in a masterly manner, and framed by the hand of a most skilful workman, equal to the composition of the most learned, and not the production of chance. The depth of meaning that abounds in many of the words must be conspicuous to every person versed in the language." It is dated "Kirk Arbory, 5th June 1834." According to a list at the end, 418 copies were subscribed for. The Author of this Account purchased the sheets left on hand, from which some Copies were afterwards made up; some little difference is observable, arising from the few sheets reprinted being in a larger type, when some few words were unavoidably omitted. Mr. George Borrow, the Author of "The Bible in Spain" and other Works, and who for some time resided in the Island collecting its Legendary fragments, remarked that "he revered the very ground upon which Cregeen had trod, because he was one of the greatest natural Celtic scholars who had ever lived."

Many of Cregeen's Words are incorporated in the Dictionary published by the Manx Society, vol. xiii. 1866.

The advertisement is dated "July 26, 1820," and states that the Claims are taken from official and authentic sources. The following relate to the Isle of Man :—

HENRY IV.

Claimant.—Henry, Earl of Northumberland.

Right of Claim.—In right of the Isle of Man, which had been granted to him and his heirs by the present King, to hold of him and his heirs, by the service “To carry, by himself or a sufficient deputy, on the Coronation days of the Kings of England, and near the King’s left shoulder, that sword naked wherewith the present King was girt when he in partibus de Holdernesse applicuit, and which was called Lancaster Sword.”

Answer.—Admitted ; and he performed the service in his own proper person.—See Rymer’s “Fœdera,” tom. viii. pp. 91-95.

CHARLES II.

“To present Two Falcons to the King on his Coronation.”

Claimant.—Charles, Earl of Derby, Lord of the Isle of Man and its appertinents.

Right.—As being seized by inheritance of the Isle and Castle of Pelham, and of the serviory and dominion of Man, in his demesne as of fee, all which are held by such service.

Answer.—Allowed ; it appearing that the Isle of Man was held by the service of giving to the King two Falcons on his Coronation day.

JAMES II.

Claimant.—Henry, Earl of Derby, Lord of the Isle of Man and its appertinents.

Right, etc.—As above.

Answer.—Allowed.

WILLIAM AND MARY.

Claimant.—William Richard George Stanley, Earl of Derby, Lord of the Isle of Man and its appertinents.

Right, etc.—As above.

Answer.—Admitted.

GEORGE II.

Claimant.—James Stanley, Earl of Derby, Lord of the Isle of Man, and its appertinents.

Right, etc.—As above.

Answer.—Claim allowed ; and the Earl performed the service at the Coronation.

CHARLES II.

Claimant.—Charles, Earl of Derby, Lord of the Isle of Man and its appertinents.

Right.—As being seized by inheritance of the Isle and Castle of Pelham, and of the signiory and dominion of Man, in his demesne as of fee, all which are held by the service above mentioned.

Fees, etc.—All fees, privileges, and dignities appertinent to the said service.

Answer.—It appearing to the Court that the Isle of Man was held by the service of giving to the King two Falcons on the Coronation day, and not by the service of carrying the sword called Curtana, nor by the service of carrying the sword called Lancaster Sword, the Earl was admitted to do the service of giving the King two Falcons on his Coronation day ; but not to perform either the service of carrying the sword called Curtana, or the service of carrying the sword called Lancaster Sword.

N.B.—Afterwards, by the King’s favour, the said Earl of Derby did carry the Third Sword before the King on his Coronation day.

EDWARD FORBES.—1838.

habiting the Isle of Man and the neighbouring sea. By Edward Forbes, For. Sec. B. S. President of the Royal Physical Society, etc. Edinburgh : John Carfrae and Son ; Longman, Orme, Brown, Green, and Longmans, London. 1838. 12mo. Pp. 63. Dedication, Preface, etc., pp. xii. 3 Plates.

Professor Forbes was a native of the Isle of Man, and one whom the Island was justly proud of. In the preface he states that he had been "induced for some time back to collect materials for the Natural History of that Island, both its Fauna and its Flora. These I propose publishing in the form of catalogues, and commence with the Mollusca, that class being first completed." I am not aware that he continued these catalogues. He was interred in the Dean Cemetery, Edinburgh, and on a granite obelisk is the following inscription :—

EDWARD FORBES,
NATURALIST :
BORN FEBRUARY 12, 1815,
DIED NOVEMBER 18, 1854.

Professor Forbes wrote a Catalogue of Manx Shells, containing 196 names, and of Manx Plants 383, with lists of Crustacea, Radiata, etc. Also Notes on the Geology, etc., of the Island, which were never published.

He was the author of the following relating to the Isle of Man :—

MDCCCXLIV. Quarto. Pp. xxxii. and 371.

Chetham Society, vol. ii.

Many interesting matters connected with the Derby Family and the Isle of Man are mentioned in these Tracts.

Chap. xiii. pp. 280-285, Lord Derby's proceedings in Man, 1643-1651.

1844.

British Archæological Association Journal, December 1844.

Mr. Way communicated drawings of several sculptured crosses in the Isle of Man, the shaft of one of these monuments standing in Braddan Churchyard. Engraved in the Arch. Journal, p. 75.

1844.

Third Annual Report of the Isle of Man Agricultural Association, formed 13th March 1841. Price to non-subscribers, sixpence. Douglas: printed by William Dillon, Duke Street. 1844. Octavo. Pp. 8. With the Rules and Regulations.

1844.

The National Reformer. Commenced November 16th. Published by Jas. B. O'Brien.

1844.

Oddfellows' Chronicle. Commenced October 25th. Published by Company of Oddfellows, 15th of every month.

THOMAS VOWLER SHORT (Bishop).—1845.

Charge delivered to the Convocation, held at Bishop's Court, on Thursday, May 15th, 1845. By Thomas Vowler Short, Bishop of Sodor and Man. Douglas: printed by Peter Curphey, North Quay. 1845. Octavo. Pp. 24.

SAMUEL HAINING.—1845.

Strictures on the Charge of the Bishop of Sodor and Mann, delivered to his Clergy at Bishop's Court, July 11th, 1844. By Samuel Haining. Douglas: printed and published by M. A. Quiggin, 52 North Quay; and sold by the Booksellers. MDCCCXLV. Small octavo. Pp. 24.

JOHN DUGGAN.—1845.

The Touchstone; or, a Review of J. C. Bluett's Two Letters in defence of The House of Keys; with important extracts from the Reply of Counsel, and Correspondence, In Re Miss Ritchie v. Bluett, before the House of Keys, on the 26th and 27th Feby. 1823. By John Duggan, Author of "An Appeal to Manxmen," and "The Last Appeal to Manxmen."

"Thrice is he arm'd that hath his quarrel just,
And he but naked, though lock'd up in steel,
Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted."

Second Part of King Henry VI.

Douglas: printed by Penrice and Wallace, Liberal Office. 1845. Octavo. Pp. 47.

Dedicated to "Wm. Kelly, Chairman; S. S. Rogers, Secretary; and all the Members of the Reform Association."

The Author should have followed what he so much admires in Mr. Bluett's letters, "the avoidance of all personality and low abuse." The matter of Miss Ritchie has nothing whatever to do with the "Constitution of the House of Keys." The two pages at the end would have been much better left out of his "Touchstone."

LAWRENCE ADAMSON.—1845.

The People's Case. An Answer to the Letters of J. C. Bluett, Advocate, on the Constitution of the House of Keys. By Lawrence Adamson, an Attorney of Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench at Westminster, a Solicitor and Master Extraordinary of the English High Court of Chancery, and a Student of Manx Law.

1845.

The Isle of Man : a Satire. Canto I. By ———. Douglas :

printed by Penrice and Wallace, Liberal Office. 1845.
Octavo. Pp. 19.

On the title is a long quotation from Lord Byron.

The Hero does not arrive in the island until the end of the canto, and the author there gives a synopsis of what is to be in canto ii., and concludes thus—

“ But O ye Public ! buy, and don’t forsake me,
Or may the devil roast, and boil, and bake ye.”

I am not aware that any more was published.

1845.

Proceedings of a Public Meeting held at the Court-House, Douglas, March 18th, 1845, for the purpose of petitioning Her Majesty’s Government to construct a Great Central Harbour of Refuge in Douglas Bay, Isle of Man. Sir Wm. Hillary, Bart., in the chair. Douglas : printed by R. Fargher, Mona’s Herald Office. 1845. Octavo. Pp. 15. Contains a Copy of the Memorial.

CAPTAIN THUROT.—1845.

Genuine and Curious Memoirs of the famous Captain Thurot, etc. This is edited from the edition of 1760, by T. Crofton Croker, Esq., and printed by the Percy Society in this year, as Part I. of his “Popular Songs, illustrative of the French Invasions of Ireland.” Post octavo. Pp. 44.

Total supposed loss of vessels and cargoes, £258,365 ; total number of lives lost 172.

SIR WALTER SCOTT, Bart.—1845.

Peveril of the Peak. By Sir Walter Scott, Bart. With all his Illustrations and Notes. Edinburgh : Robert Cadell, St. Andrew Square. 1845. Royal octavo.

This is one of the numerous editions of this novel, the chief incidents of which are connected with the Isle of Man, particularly those matters relative to the now venerable ruins of Peel Castle and William Christian (Illiam Dhône).

The pamphlet attributed to Colonel Wilks, but written by Mr. Marsden, "Notices of Edward and William Christian," is printed in the Appendix to the Introduction, as well as a translation of the Lament over "Fair-haired William."

Joseph Train, author of the "Historical Account of the Isle of Man," is said to have supplied Sir Walter Scott with many interesting facts connected with this celebrated novel.

THOMAS VOWLER SHORT (Bishop).—1846.

Popular Rhymes, Proverbs, Sayings, Prophecies, etc. etc., peculiar to the Isle of Man and the Manks people. Fools-cap octavo. Pp. 17.

The work is inscribed "To Oberon and Titania, King and Queen of Fairies, and the whole Fairy Court, dwelling in the Greater Mona, I dedicate this little Tract on the Popular Rhymes, Proverbs, Sayings, etc. etc. etc., of their native Ysle." Dated at the end "P.B. n'r. D. in com. Dunelm. Oct. MDCCCL. M. A. D."

This brochure was edited by Mr. M. Aislabie Denham, of Piercebridge, near Darlington, and 50 copies only struck off for private distribution. The matter was chiefly supplied him by the author, with other remarks on the Popular Rhymes and Customs of the Isle of Man, at the time Mr. Denham was printing similar tracts connected with the northern counties of England. These are all now, from the few copies printed, become very scarce. Mr. Denham died on the 10th September 1859.

These Proverbs, etc., are printed in the Manx Society's series, vol. xvi., "Mona Miscellany," 1869.

Mona's Isle, and other Poems. By T. J. Ouseley

"I see the Deep's untrampled floor,
With green and purple sea weeds strown ;
I see the waves upon the shore,
Like light dissolved in star showers, thrown :
I sit upon the sands alone,
The lightning of the noon-tide ocean
Is flashing round me, and a tone
Arises from its measured motion,
How sweet ! did any heart now share in my emotion."

FREDERIC W. FARRAR.—1858.

Eric, or Little by Little, a Tale of Roslyn School. By Frederic W. Farrar, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

“Tis one thing to be tempted, Escalus,
Another thing to fall.”

Measure for Measure, Act. II. Scene 1.

Edinburgh: Adam and Charles Black, North Bridge.
MDCCCLVIII. Octavo. Pp. 396.

The scene of this novel will be recognised by many as relating to the Isle of Man. The adventure at the Stack is one of the most thrilling description. Mr. Farrar was a pupil at King William's College, and it is only justice to him to reprint the following letter, which appeared in one of the insular papers soon after the publication of Eric:—

HARROW, April 18th, 1859.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE Manx Sun.

SIR—I have heard with surprise and regret that some persons who entertain unkindly feelings towards King William's College have taken the opportunity to attribute to that institution a state of things described in a recent story called “Eric, or Little by Little.” Now, Sir, had I for a moment anticipated such a result, I have no hesitation in saying that I should never have suffered the book to appear in its present shape. To avoid, as I hoped, the possibility of a consequence so much to be deprecated, I placed in the preface an emphatic disclaimer of all intention to identify Roslyn with any existing school; and I took the same opportunity to express with all humility a grateful appreciation of past kindnesses which I have received from the valued friends who are connected with King William's College. It is true that the scenery of the tale was taken from my own happy and vivid boyish reminiscences of your Island. It was a pleasure to reproduce the undimmed sensations which your seas and rocks had excited; but if by this innocent indulgence of happy memories I have done unwitting injury to a school for which I have quite recently testified my strong regard, I shall be deeply and sincerely pained. Will you then allow me, thus publicly, to re-affirm (I hope finally) that Roslyn “was in no way intended to be a picture of King William's College;” that the incidents of “Eric,” so far as they are real and not imaginary, are derived from many sources; and that I asserted the truthfulness of the book as a whole, not because I was painting the scene of my own education, but because I have had subsequent opportunities of seeing many of the most famous English schools, and forming an opinion of their temptations and advantages, my impressions of which I was desirous to state in the form of a story, mainly intended for the benefit of boys. In conclusion, let me add that I always look back to King William's College with sincere affection, and that I should have the fullest confidence in recommending it as a place of education for any boy in whom I was interested. It has trained many good and able men, and has no need of any defence from me. Indeed, it would be presumption in me to write about it at all, were it not for the circumstances which I have mentioned, and which seemed to call for some notice from me. Yours, etc.

THE AUTHOR OF "ERIC."

By the Rev. John Kelly, LL.D., Vicar of Ardleigh, and Rector of Copford, in the County of Essex. Edited, together with an Introduction, Life of Dr. Kelly, and Notes, by the Rev. William Gill, Vicar of Malew. Douglas, Isle of Man : printed for the Manx Society. 1859. Octavo. Introduction, etc., pp. xlviii. Grammar, pp. 92.

This forms the Second volume of the Publications of the Manx Society. Reprinted from the Edition of 1804, which is not noticed in the Title of this Edition.

The Editor, in his Introduction to this Grammar, says—"This reprint is an accurate transcript of the original work, with corrections only of errors of the press, and of some obvious inaccuracies of the pen," and has "given the work in its original integrity."

It is much to be regretted the Editor did not make foot-notes where these errors occurred, for in this edition the alterations and omissions are so numerous as to entirely alter the original work, which cannot, by any reasoning, be considered as "given in its original integrity."

Mr. Gill died on the 17th October 1871.

N. E. S. A. HAMILTON, F.R.S.L.—1866.

The National Gazetteer of Great Britain and Ireland, or Topographical Dictionary of the British Islands, comprising above 30,000 names of towns, villages, parishes, hamlets, castles, seats, and other natural and political divisions ; with a description of their churches, schools, antiquities, manufactures, progress, railways, etc. Compiled from the most recent and trustworthy sources, and corrected by local verification. Edited by N. E. S. A. Hamilton, Esq., F.R.S.L., etc., Assistant in the Department of Manuscripts, British Museum. London : Virtue and Co. 1866.

This work was published in divisions, and was the cause of much annoyance and some litigation to the Manx subscribers. If the information relating to the other portions of Great Britain is drawn from similar trustworthy sources as that relating to the Isle of Man, we pity the student who places reliance on the work. It is amusing to find the following as specimens which the work contains respecting insular localities :—

"Balawin, a village in the Isle of Man, 1 mile from Douglas."

"Ballasalla, a village in the parish of Castletown, Sheading of Rushen, in the Isle of Man, 3 miles to the N.E. of Castletown."

“The Site (of the Abbey) now belongs to the Chief Deemster.”

“Calf of Man. The island abounds with rabbits and solan geese, the pursuit and capture of which is the occupation of the islanders.”

“Kirk Ballaugh, a parish in Michael Sheading, includes the village of Ballamoor, where is a brewery.”

“Kirk Braddan, a parish in Middle Sheading, Isle of Man, 2 miles N.W. of Douglas.” “The village, which is considerable, is situated in a pleasant spot.”

The information about Castletown and Douglas is much after the same style of fact!

ACTS OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT RELATING TO THE ISLE OF MAN.

The chief Law Officers of England have concurred in declaring the Isle of Man to be an ancient Kingdom of itself, and no part of the realm of England. As such they have ever made their own laws ; and since the Revestment in 1765, when the Duke and Duchess of Atholl sold the revenues of the Island to the British Crown, the King of England has had the appointment of the Lieutenant-Governor and the chief Officers of State, who, with the 24 Keys (landed proprietors in the Island), continue to make their own laws, subject only to the approval of the Crown of England before being promulgated on the Tynwald Hill, in the same manner as they have been from time immemorial.

The following are the chief of these Acts relating to the Island :—

1536.—An Act for the Dissolution of Monasteries, 27 Henry VIII., Cap. 28. “An Act that all religious houses under the yearly revenue of Two Hundred Pounds shall be dissolved, and given to the King and his Heirs.”

It has been stated by some authors that the monastery and priory of Rushen and Douglas, and the Fryers Minors, commonly called the Grey Friars of Bymaken, otherwise Bemaken, in the Island of Man, were dissolved and vested in His Majesty, his heirs, etc., by this Act ; but such dissolution and vesting did not take place by virtue of this Act, which has no reference in it to the Isle of Man ; and, according to English jurists, an Act of Parliament does not extend to it, unless it be particularly named therein.—(See the Act of 1729.)

The dissolution was not completed until the reign of Queen Elizabeth, Rushen Abbey being the last monastery dissolved.

1542.—An Act for dissevering the Bishoprick of Chester and the Isle of Man from the jurisdiction of Canterbury to the jurisdiction of York, 33 Henry VIII.

1610.—An Act for assuring and establishing the Isle of Man in the name and blood of William, Earl of Derby, 9th Feby., 8th James I.

This Act is printed in Oliver's "Monumenta," vol. iii. pp. 114-120 ; Manx Society, vol. ix., 1862. Also in Gell's "Abstract of the Laws of the Isle of Man," vol. i. p. 114 ; Manx Society, vol. xii., 1867 ; and in Mill's "Statutes," 1821, pp. 522-526.

1649.—An Act for settling Mannors, Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, of the cleare yearly value of £4000, upon Thomas, Lord Fairfax, the Captain-Generall of the forces of the Parliament of England, 29th Sepr.

By this Act the Island was conferred on Lord Fairfax, but had no recognition in the Island until February 1652.

1666.—An Act against importing Cattle from Ireland and other parts beyond the Seas, and Fish taken by Foreigners, Anno 18 Charles II. Printed in the Savoy. 1666.

The last clause says, "Provided always that nothing in this Act shall be construed to hinder the importation of Cattle from the Isle of Man in this Kingdom of England, so as the number of the said Cattel do not exceed six hundred head yearly, and that they be not of any other breed than of the breed of the Isle of Man, and that they be landed at the port of Chester, or some of the Members thereof, and not elsewhere."

1676.—Corn, the growth of the Isle of Man, may be imported into Great Britain, 15th Charles II., Cap. 7, Sec. 21.

1692.—An Act dissevering the Bishoprick of Chester and of the Isle of Man from the jurisdiction of Canterbury to the jurisdiction of York, 8th James II., Cap. xxxi.

Printed in Bishop Wilson's Works, 1797, vol. i. pp. 318-321. Also in "The Old Historians of the Isle of Man," Manx Society, vol. xviii., 1871, pp. 107-110.

1721.—Act prohibiting East India Goods being imported into the Isle of Man except through Great Britain, 7th Geo. I., Stat. 1, Cap. 21, Sec. 9.

1726.—An Act for the Improvement of His Majesty's Revenues of Customs, Excise and Inland Duties, enabling the Lords of the Treasury to purchase from James, Earl of Derby, the Isle of Man, 12th George I., Cap. 28.

Sections 25 and 26 are given in Gell's "Abstract of the Laws," etc., vol. i. pp. 94-5; Manx Society, vol. xii., 1867. Sections 22, 23, and 24 also relate to this Act.

1727.—An Act passed, and power given to those entitled to the Island, and to the Trustees of Henrietta Bridgett Ashburnham, an infant, to sell, and for the Treasury to purchase, their Rights and Interests in and over the Isle of Man.

1729.—An Act for the Liability of Seamen to Contribute to Greenwich Hospital was extended to the Isle of Man.

The preamble contains a remarkable declaration and admission by Parliament that to bind the Isle of Man it must be referred to by express name.

1745.—Every Officer or Seaman belonging to the Isle of Man, etc., is required to pay 6d. per month for the use of Greenwich Hospital, 18th George II., Cap. 31.

1764.—An Act respecting Smuggling from the Isle of Man.

1765.—An Act for carrying into Execution a Contract, made pursuant to the Act of Parliament of the 12th of his late Majesty King George 1st, between the Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury and the Duke and Duchess of Atholl, the proprietors of the Isle of Man, and their Trustees, for the purchase of the said Island and its dependencies, under certain exceptions therein particularly mentioned, 5th Geo. III., Cap. 26.

Called "The Act of Revestment ;" received the Royal assent 10th May. £70,000 to be paid into the Bank for the Duke of Atholl on or before 1st June 1765.

A copy of this Act is in Gell's "Abstract of the Laws," etc., vol. i. pp. 107-124 ; Manx Society, vol. xii., 1867. Abstracts are also given in Mill's "Statutes," 1821, pp. 527-530.

The patronage of the Bishopric and other ecclesiastical benefices, the landed revenue, and other manorial rights, are excepted. Abstracts of many of the Acts of Geo. III. are given in the Commissioners' Report, 1792, Appendix B, No. 44.

1765.—Act to discontinue Bounties on Corn, etc., exported from Great Britain or Ireland to the Isle of Man, 5th Geo. III., Cap. 30, Sec. 11.

1765.—Act respecting infringements on the Revenue of Spirits, Wines, etc. etc., in the Isle of Man, 5th Geo. III., Cap. 39, Sections 1-15.

1765.—An Act for the better securing and further improvement of the Revenues of Customs, Excise, Inland, and Salt Duties ; and for encouraging the Linen Manufactures of the Isle of Man, and for allowing the importation of several goods, the produce and manufacture of the said Island, under certain restrictions and regulations, 5th Geo. III., Cap. 43.

Reprinted in 1779.

1765.—Act respecting Bestials, Goods, Wares, and Merchandises, the Produce or Manufacture of the Isle of Man, may be imported into Great Britain free of Duty, 5th Geo. III., Cap. 43, Section 11-13.

1765.—An Act for the more effectually preventing the Mischiefs arising to the Revenue and Commerce of Great Britain and Ireland from the illicit and clandestine Trade to and from the Isle of Man, 5th Geo. III., Cap. 39.

Received assent 15th May 1765. Was in force two years, and was repealed 5th July 1825 by Act of 6th Geo. IV., c. 105. From its restrictive clauses was very injurious to the revenues of the Island. It was called by the Duke, in his address of 10th April 1805, "The Mischief Act," by which the Insular revenue sank below £1000 per annum. It was the first Act of the British Parliament which really affected the rights and liberties of the people of the Island, and was no doubt made to compel the Duke to part with his interest therein.

In 1764 a correspondence commenced between the Lords of the Treasury and the Duke of Atholl relative to the sale of the Isle of Man. The Duke, in his letter of the 20th August 1764, in reply says, "I have been but a few months in possession of the Isle of Man, and never in the least turned my thoughts towards the sale of it." Vide "His Case," p. 6, 1801.

1766.—An Act for allowing the conveyance from the Ports of Southampton and Portsmouth to the Port of Cowes, in the Isle of Wight, of goods not liable to Duty on exportation, or prohibited to be exported, and of sheep and cattle between the said Ports without Cocquets being taken, or Bonds entered into for that purpose; and for extending an Act made in the 29th year of the reign of King Charles II. for taking affidavits in the country to be made use of in the Courts of King's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, to the Isle of Man; and for appointing Ports and places for shipping and landing goods in the said Island, 6th Geo. III., Cap. 50, Secs. 2 and 3.

1766.—An Act for Encouraging and Regulating the Trade and Manufacture of the Isle of Man; and for the more easy Supply of the Inhabitants there, with a certain quantity of Wheat, Barley, Oats, Meal, and Flour, authorised by an Act made in this Session, to be transported to the said Island, 7 Geo. III., Cap. 45, Sections 1 to 8, 10 to 24.

An abstract of this Act, so far as relates to the Isle of Man, is in the Commissioners' Report, 1805, Appendix B, No. 44.

To take effect after the 5th July 1767. The purport of this Act is to raise a revenue which had fallen in consequence of the "Mischief Act," the first Act of Parliament after the Revestment. By this Act Spirits are prohibited being distilled in the Island; forfeiture of £200, with the materials and utensils. The provisions of this Act are printed in Rolt's "History," 1773, pp. 133-151. Also in Mill's "Statutes," 1821, pp. 532-534.

A Quarto MS. on Vellum.

This MS. is in possession of the present Earl of Derby at Knowsley, and will no doubt form one of the publications of the Manx Society, having been placed in the hands of the Council by his Lordship, with the following letter :—

KNOWSLEY, January 19th, 1861.

SIR—In the course of partially re-arranging the libraries here, I have come upon the volume, the title of which I enclose ; and as it occurs to me that its contents may be of interest to the resident members of the Manx Society, and perhaps available for some of their future publications, I shall be happy to lend you the volume, and authorise you to make such use of its contents as you may think fit in the interest of the Society. On receiving your answer, I will send it over in such manner as you may advise. I shall of course look to you for its safe return in due time ; and as it is rather in a dilapidated condition, I must beg that it may be carefully dealt with, and not exposed to any farther injury than it has already sustained.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

DERBY.

MS.—1644.

A Discourse concerning the Government of the Isle of Man, by the Rt. Honb. James, Earle of Derby. A.D. 1644.

This MS. is in the Knowsley Library, a Small quarto volume of 78 pages.

It is printed in Peck's "Desiderata," and vol. iii. of the "Stanley Papers," 1867, Chetham Society ; also in the Manx Society's third volume, 1860.

BISHOP RUTTER.—1648. (MS.)

A choice Collection of Songs composed by Archdeacon Ryter (afterwards Bishop of Sodor and Mann) for the amusement and diversion of the Right Hon. James, Earl of Derby, during his retreat into his Island of Man in the time of the Oliverian Usurpation.

One of the songs is called "Ubonia's Praise ;" another,

"The Little Quiet Nation," "being a prologue to the play acted in Castle Rushen before the Right Hon. James, Earl of Derby, to divert his pensive spirit and deep concern for the calamity of his country, occasioned by the grand rebellion began Anno 1641;" a third is styled "Threnodia, or Elegiac Song on the direful effects of the Grand Rebellion, with a prophetic view of the downfall and catastrophe thereof, composed by the reverend author on Scarlet Rocks, near Castletown."

MS.—16—.

A History of the Isle of Man.

A MS. written in the 17th century, beginning A.D. 1205. In folio, in the Knowsley Library.

A copy is in possession of Charles Wickstead, Esq., of Shakenhurst, Bewdley, in the county of Worcester, "Stanley Papers," vol. ii., p. cclxxiv. Chetham Society, 1867.

This appears to be the same MS. as that called the "Blundell MS." 1648, of which various copies are in existence. Mr. Wickstead's copy is defective of the Title as given in the copy belonging to the Manx Society.

WILLIAM BLUNDELL.—1648. (MS.)

"It then containeth divers Ordinances, Statutes, and Customs, presented, reputed, and used for Laws in the Isle of Man, that were ratified, approved, and confirmed as well by the Honourable Sir John Stanley, Knight, King and Lord of the same land, and divers others, his predecessors, as by all barons, deemsters, officers, tenants, and inhabitants of the same land."

The above is given as the title of this MS. by Mr. Townley in his "Journal," 1789-90, and which he supposes was written by a Welsh Justice. He has given copious extracts from it in his second volume. The MS. then belonged to

Mr. James Oates of Douglas. Feltham, in 1798, states it to be in the possession of Mr. Moore of Douglas (now in the possession of the Manx Society). The author appears to have sought the shelter of the island during the troubles occasioned by the Civil Wars, when, says he, "wearied with being so often awakened at midnight by the King's and Parliament's troops, both equally feared because equally plundering, I resolved to banish myself for a time to the Island of Man, where divers nobility had been banished by our Kings."

The Manx Society are in possession of an imperfect copy of this MS., which contains only the first two books, wanting chapters 14 to 25, also the third book. The title of the volume as given in this MS. is as follows:—"An exact Chronographical and Historical Discovery of the hitherto unknown Isle of Man, containing a true and perfect description of this Island at large; the History of their Ancient Kings, late Lords and Bishops of the Island; the Ceremonies of their Inaugurations and Instalments; together with the Political Government there practised, and their Courts of Justice, and strange manner of the Citations and Form of Pleadings in the Island. As also discovering all their Laws and Customs, as well Political, Legal, or Ecclesiastical, both ancient and modern; wherein likewise are laid open and rectified the many abusive, erroneous, and misinformed relations of Hector Boetius, and of all those that have hitherto written of this Island. Never hitherto discovered or published by any."

MS. by MR. BLUNDELL, of Crosby.—During the Civil Wars.

"This gentleman employed his leisure hours in collecting the History and Antiquities of the Isle of Man, and by his MSS., which I have seen, gave posterity the clearest and most correct account of it."—Seacome, p. 487, Ed. 1793.

This evidently alludes to the above MS. of 1648. A copy of this MS. is in the library at Knowsley, as appears by an extract from it in "The Stanley Papers," part iii., vol. ii., p. 374 ; Chetham Society, 1867.

There is little doubt this is the author's original MS., from which various transcripts have been made.

A copy is in the possession of M. H. Quayle, Esq., Clerk of the Rolls, said to be written by an unknown author retired here from the troubles occasioned by the Civil Wars. The Rev. J. G. Cumming considers this to be Mr. Blundell's original MS., and the one made use of by both Sacheverell and Seacome, but the original is evidently at Knowsley.

The Clerk of the Rolls has given permission for the portion not in the Manx Society's possession to be copied for their use. It will now form one of their series of publications.

MS.—1422 to 1705.

Containing 108 Acts of the Manx Legislature anterior to the accession of the Atholl family, and which have been kept in Castle Rushen.

This MS. contained much interesting information nowhere else to be found. Vide "Memoirs of Train," p. 133, 1857.

DEEMSTER PARR.—1693-1712.

An Abstract of the Laws, Customs, and Ordinances of the Isle of Mann.

John Parr held the office of Deemster from 1693 to 1712. Various copies of this Abstract, which has never been printed, appear to be in existence. It contains much valuable information as to the state of the law in his day.

This is now in course of publication by the Manx Society, under the editorship of James Gell, Esq., Her Majesty's Attorney-General for the Isle of Man. The first volume, being the twelfth of the Society's publications, appeared in 1867.

MS.

The Antient Customary Laws of the Isle of Man.

This is a brief compilation, arranged under thirty-nine heads. By whom they were drawn up is not known, but they were considered as of authority at the time Deemster Parr drew up his Abstract, as he often alludes to them. The MS. is in the Rolls Office.

ALEXANDER ROSS.—1744-53. (MS.)

Mona ; or the History, Laws, and Constitution, Ecclesiastical and Civil, of the Isle of Man, verified by the Records of the Island, and thence extracted by the application, care, and diligence of Mr. Alexander Ross, of Grey's Inn, Gent.

Mr. Ross died in the year 1753. Copied from the original for the use of E. Umfrevill ; now in the hands of George Tollet, Esq., Betley Hall, Staffordshire. The above is from Townley's "Journal," 1789-90, vol. ii., p. 226, where he states that the MS. then belonged to Mr. Oates of Douglas.

Mr. Tollet, now of Wickstead, Nottinghamshire, in a letter to Paul Bridson, Esq., Hon. Sec. to the Manx Society, in the year 1857, dated "Shakenhurst, Bewdley, Worcestershire, 24th May," declines to allow the Society to publish Mr. Ross's MS. as he purposes publishing it.

Mr. Charles Tollet, who took the name of Wickstead, in his letter to Mr. Bridson, gives some extracts from his MS. which clearly proves it to be the same MS. as Blundell's, 1648, and it appears to have the third book, wanting in the Manx Society's copy.

Mr. Ross's MS. is evidently quite a different work.

MS., in Two Volumes, of a Vocabulary or Dictionary of the Manx Language. By the Rev. John Kelly, LL.D., of St. John's College, Cam., Vicar of Ardleigh in Essex.

In the College Library, Castletown. Printed in the Thirteenth volume of the Manx Society's publications, 1866. Edited by the Rev. W. Gill and the Rev. J. T. Clarke.

MS. Triglot Dictionary, by the Rev. John Kelly, LL.D., containing a Vocabulary of the English, Manx, Irish, and Gaelic Languages.

In the College Library, Castletown.

1000 to 1805.

MS. History of the Isle of Man, written by the late Rev. Wm. Fitzimmons, Episcopal Minister of Carrubber's Close, Edinburgh ; a native of the Island.

Formerly in the possession of the late Richard Quirk, Esq., Receiver-General, who presented it to the Manx Society.

MS. on Manx Antiquities, etc.

In the Library of the Society of the Antiquaries of Scotland, Edinburgh. Communicated by Mr. Oswald, of Douglas, 1823, etc.

1843.

MS. Account of Manx Customs, collected for Train's Historical Account of the Isle of Man. By a Native of the Island (Mr. P. Curphey). 1843.

MS. Book of Statutes of the Isle of Man. By James Christian. Folio.

In the Knowsley Library.

THE MANX SOCIETY.

Established in the Year 1858 for Publication of National Documents of the Isle of Man.

IN this work, treating of what has been printed relative to the History and Antiquities of the Isle of Man, it would be incomplete if special notice was not made of the formation and progress of a Society which has been the means of bringing not only the present account, but numerous other documents, before the public, which would otherwise have never appeared.

Early in the year 1858 a few gentlemen met in Douglas to consider the best mode of forming a Society for publishing or reprinting everything tending to illustrate the History of the Isle of Man, an undertaking which required the assistance of many hands. After several meetings a Committee was formed, who drew up an address which was freely circulated in the Island, as also in England and Scotland, and its object met with such hearty support, that upwards of one hundred and twenty members desired to be enrolled in the Society. Amongst the number were the Earl of Derby, the Duke of Argyll, several leading Members of Parliament, with most of the Members of the Insular Government, and others. A general meeting was accordingly called, when the Society was formally instituted, and a code of Rules adopted, his Excellency the Honourable Charles Hope, Lieutenant-Governor of the Isle of Man, being elected President of the Society.

The following is the Address which was sent out, with a copy of the Rules :—

THE MANX SOCIETY

FOR PUBLICATION OF NATIONAL DOCUMENTS OF THE ISLE OF MAN.

The Chief "of the multitude of Isles," satellites to Great Britain and Ireland, has local peculiarities of the most interesting and important nature. It has an unexhausted field to the Antiquary and the Statesman—the man of the past and of the future—of conservatism and of progress. Inhabited by an aboriginal tribe of the great Celtic family, with language, institutions, and laws peculiar to itself—never united to Scotland, Ireland, or England—to this day a separate realm independent of the Imperial Parliament, and under its native and aboriginal Legislature, with a singular relation between its Church and State, having, as Lord Coke says, "such laws the like whereof are not to be found in any other place;" so that "if the ancient discipline of the Church were lost," said Chancellor King, "it might be found in all its purity in the Isle of Man," surely this Island has peculiar claims to have the light of catholic publicity at length cast upon all its documents and peculiarities. It was not in jest merely that Burke, speaking to Dr. Johnson and Boswell about a visit to this Isle, used the famous line of Pope—

"The proper study of mankind is Man."

The central Isle of the British group, connected with Scotland geographically and geologically, with Ireland ethnologically, with England politically, and with the three kingdoms ecclesiastically, merits more attention from the United Kingdom than it has ever received. As during the past it has been, so for the future it promises to be, a beginner of the great central movements of the British Isles. Said to have been the central fane of Druidism in the aboriginal Celtic period, it was certainly the stronghold of the Norsemen long before they took the supremacy of Great Britain and Ireland. They introduced here Trial by Jury, and modified the old Celtic government by constituting the House of Keys to be a representation of the Island, before the judicial and political systems of jury and representation were known in Britain. The highest order of English chivalry, that of the Garter, began with the King and Queen of Man. The Papacy was subdued in this central Isle a full century before Henry VIII., and thus among the European nations, the Manx, like Wycliffe, was the Morning Star of the Reformation, and for 428 years has been to the most catholic extent anti-papal. The latest reforms of the British fiscal and legal systems under Peel and Brougham are said to have been modelled after Manx examples. The records of such central movements of the geographic and organic heart of Great Britain and Ireland must prove in the highest degree interesting to the antiquary, the historian, and the conservative patriot, and may afford data to the patriotic reformer and liberal for prospects and acting as to future progress. The oldest and first-born dependency of England must be an object of interest to the younger brood of giant nations growing up from the loins of the Anglo-Saxon race. It is a singular spectacle in Europe to see a nation with no debt, with no soldiers of its own, with a heavy claim against the British Treasury, and with the taxing branch of its own legislature dormant. Having single-handed cut itself free from the Papacy in 1430, at the end of "the Great Western Schism," and being the only Reformed nation that has not been excommunicated by Rome, it holds towards Papal and Protestant kingdoms a peculiar position in Christendom. Marching in the front rank of European progress, the miniature kingdom of Man preserves with Asiatic immobility the Tynwald government, older far than that throne of the Cæsars on which the Popes have placed their Chair of St. Peter. The Protestantism of Mona, so much indebted to Wycliffe, and not impeded by the growing obstacles that stop the progress of the Luther and Calvin Reformation, seems to have special preparation for the next era and development of Christianity. A nation whose soil is divided as in France, and whose Sabbath is observed as in Scotland, with a domestic Legislature, and a Bible in every family, is in a normal position for progress, ready to move in the van of Christendom, a pilot engine before the catholic train of mankind.

On these grounds it is deemed that a Society for the publication of all the valuable documents illustrating the past, and promotive of the future of the Manx people, will have claims of no ordinary strength on the patronage of the Nobility, Commons, and Churches of the British Empire and Colonies, and of all who look to the United Kingdom as the leading and model nation of mankind. This Society will direct, for the first time, a combined and powerful influence towards the elucidation of the national records and monuments of Man.

The following extract from the Preface to the latest work of the Rev. J. G. CUMMING, the modern historian of the Isle of Man, may be quoted in connection with the preceding statements :—

"It does indeed seem strange that, with all the facilities which steam navigation affords, the Isle of Man, presenting to us certainly some of the most beautiful scenery in the British Isles, and whose political status is of so singular a character, should continue to be so little known. How very few are aware, as I have found by repeated inquiries, of these facts following, very worthy of note :—That its climate is more equable than that of any country in Europe, and its mean annual temperature higher than that of any spot in the same parallel of latitude ; that it has within itself more antiquities in the shape of cromlechs, stone circles, crosses, ruined churches and castles, than any area of the like extent in the British Isles ; that it has been the possession in turn of the Scotch, Welsh, Danes, Norwegians, and English ; that its kings dictated terms to the Kings of Ireland ; that it played a part in the struggle between Bruce and Baliol ; that the land, the people, and their privileges, have been transferred from one party to another by purchase or by mortgage on five separate occasions ; that though in the middle of the British Isles, it is not in point of law a part of them ; that though a possession of the British Crown it is not ruled by the British Parliament ; that though its people have the rights of British subjects, it is no part of England, is not governed by the laws of England, and belongs not to England by colonisation or by conquest ; that in all these various changes of hands through which the Island has passed, it has maintained in its integrity its ancient and singular Constitution, and presents the last solitary remains of the ancient Scandinavian Thing, or Court of Justice, which, for the protection of public liberty, was held in the open air, in the presence of the entire assembled people ; that its Bishopric is the most ancient of any in Great Britain or Ireland, and has preserved an unbroken succession of Bishops from the first till now ; that it contains no records of the Reformation (of the sixteenth century) ; that the Bishop in the time of King Henry VIII. was also Bishop in the time of Elizabeth, and died in possession ; that its ecclesiastical liberty is not encumbered with an Act of Uniformity, or an Act of Mortmain ; that, for the better Government of the Church, and for making such orders and constitutions as shall from time to time be found wanting, it is enjoined by law that there shall be a convocation of the whole clergy of the Diocese, on Thursday in Whitsun Week, every year ; that Canons drawn up in these Synodal meetings of the Church have received the sanction of the Legislature, and are actually the statute law of the Isle ; that the Bishop can himself draw up public prayers to be used in the churches of his Diocese, and that such prayers have been incorporated into the Liturgy of the Manx Church ; that the Offertory has never been discontinued, but is in general practice, once at least, every week, in every parish in the Island."

RULES.

1. That the affairs of the Society shall be conducted by a Council, to meet on the first Tuesday of every month, and to consist of not more than 24 Members, of whom six * shall form a quorum ; and that the President, and Vice-Presidents, the Hon. Secretaries and Treasurers, shall be considered ex officio Members. The Council may appoint two acting Committees, one for finance and the other for publication.

2. That a subscription of One Pound annually, paid in advance, on or before the day of annual meeting, shall constitute Membership ; and that every Member not in arrear of his annual subscription be entitled to a copy of every publication issued by the Society. That no Member incur any pecuniary liability beyond his annual subscription.

* The quorum was reduced to three in 1869.

3. That the Accounts of Receipts and Expenditure be examined annually by two Auditors appointed at the annual meeting on the 1st of May in each year.

4. That six Copies of his Work be allowed to the Editor of the same, in addition to the one he is entitled to as a Member.

5. That no Rule shall be made or altered except at a General Meeting, after due notice of the proposed alteration has been given as the Council shall direct. The Council shall have the power of calling Extraordinary Meetings.

In addition to this Address the following was extensively circulated throughout the Island :—

The Council of this Society particularly request your kind co-operation in furnishing them with information on the various details of your parish or district, and beg to call your attention to the following queries :—

Name of the parish, its length, breadth, acreage, and general geological character ; Celtic remains, such as rocks or stones, which are objects of popular tradition or superstition ; altar stones, cairns, either simple heaps of stones or surrounded by circles of stones, runic stones, or crosses ?

Have any axes, spears, arrow-heads, vases, coins, rings, or other remains been found ? In whose possession are they ? Are there any ruins or remains of ancient buildings, embracing roads, stations, barrows, Treen chapels or yards, civil, military, or ecclesiastical ?

Incumbents, etc., of the livings from the earliest to the present time, with the dates of their induction, etc. In whose gifts are the various Church preferments ?

What benefactions have been given to the parish, particularly since 1827 ?

Parochial registers : their earliest date ? Particular information is earnestly requested, and as ample extracts from them as can be given. No subject is of more importance to the antiquarian and historian, and in no way can clergymen do greater service to the history of the Island than by rendering accessible the valuable documents in their custody.

The Church, when built, its general plan and dimensions ? Are there any remarkable tombs or monumental inscriptions ? Exact copies of these, with all armorial bearings, are particularly valuable. Earliest date on stones, and remarkable ages ?

Notice any peculiarity in the fonts, of what materials composed ; if any screens or carved work, communion plate or Church relics ; if any arms or inscription ? Extent of parish or clerk's glebe ; number of wardens in the parish, or any peculiar mode of election ?

What schools are there in the parish, and how endowed or supported ?

What chapels of other denominations are there in the parish, when built, and how endowed, etc. ?

Is there any library connected with the church or parish ; by whom given, or how kept up ; the number and description of books ?

Are there any words or phrases peculiar to the people of the district ?

Have they any remarkable legends, ballads, or traditions ?

Are any ancient customs or games kept up, or any peculiar customs observed at funerals, or respecting the dead, or marriages or christenings ?

Are there any mineral or remarkable springs of water or wells ?

Natural History : any information on this subject will be very useful. Appearance of rare birds, insects ; mollusca, shells, etc., thrown on the sea-shore ; plants, etc., that may be considered rare, etc.

These and many other kindred subjects are all worthy of investigation, and the Council recommend that none of these points be lost sight of by those able and willing to communicate information ; in fact, everything should be collected and arranged which can in any way assist in illustrating the past and present condition of the Island, including topography, family or general history, so that each and all may find their appropriate place in some of the volumes offered by this Society.

In what manner the Society has so far carried out their object will be best seen by a reference to the following works which have been published, and already noted in the text of the present volume :—
